Report

REASON FOR THE REPORT:

Council adopted Executive Policy Committee's July 19, 2006 motion (Minute 575-578) of which point No. 5 directed, "That the Administration be directed to provide to the Executive Policy Committee a quarterly report concerning the financial status of the program."

HISTORY:

In April 2006, the Government of Manitoba announced funding of a permanent, Operation Clean Sweep-type policing model through increases to fines charged for offences under The Highway Traffic Act.

This funding enabled the formation of the Winnipeg Police Service (WPS) Street Crime Unit, and the redevelopment of the Crime Analysis Unit to support all operations including the Street Crime Unit. These two units along with CrimeStat, a management and accountability system, are components of the Neighbourhood Safety and Crime Prevention strategy, an omnibus program approved by Council in July, 2006.

The CrimeStat management and accountability system itself is described in greater detail in an administrative report dated June 30, 2006.

Following the April 2006 announcement by former Minister of Justice and Attorney General Gord Mackintosh, Mayor Sam Katz, and retired Chief of Police Jack Ewatski, Operation Clean Sweep transitioned from the pilot project task force into the permanent Street Crime Unit.

The Crime Analysis Unit's police supervisor, civilian analysts, training and software were in place by November 2006 when it became a fully-functioning unit.

DISCUSSION:

As part of the Neighbourhood Safety and Crime Prevention strategy, Phase I of the CrimeStat website was launched on February 2, 2007. The site was designed to provide citizens with up-to-date and archived information on crime trends in their communities. Archived information would allow citizens to track local changes in crime.

In Phase I, the website provided chart data for the City's six police districts, as well as a chart for the entire City. On March 16, 2007, Phase II of the site was launched with the addition of PDF maps for the six districts. Future enhancements are planned to provide additional information in an even more interactive format.

Further enhancements to the website are to be launched in the coming months.

On the site, links to numerous crime prevention resources from the Winnipeg Police Service website are placed conspicuously throughout the CrimeStat website.

Financial performance for the fourth quarter of 2007

Neighbourhood Safety and Crime Prevention Strategy October to December 2007
Revenues from Province (from HTA fine increases)	$943,042
Expenditures
Street Crime Unit (SCU) salary, OT, benefits, pension	$1,175,332
SCU operating expenses, uniforms, phones, fuel	31,251
Crime Analysis Unit (CAU) salary, OT, benefits, pension	(35,848)
CAU furniture, equipment	(10,118)
Expenditures Total	$1,160,617
Excess Expenditures over Revenue (see explanatory notes)	($217,575)

Explanatory notes on financial performance in fourth quarter:

1. It should be noted that the above revenues are intended to cover costs associated with recruits hired to backfill the police officers assigned to the Street Crime Unit. Costs in the above chart represent costs associated with experienced, first-class constables and therefore, are considerably higher than recruit costs.
2. HTA fine revenues are lowest in the first quarter each year. At the same time, SCU was fully staffed in that period, resulting in an increase to the net overage in expenditures. Therefore, the excess in expenditures increased from level experienced in the fourth quarter of 2006. The margin of excess expenditures decreased in the second quarter, consistent with this yearly fluctuation. The third quarter generally shows the largest amount of revenue.
3. Start up costs were experienced in the second quarter for development and launch of the CrimeStat website ($11,375). There will be continuing costs to maintain and expand the site as future enhancements are implemented.
4. SCU/CAU Salaries will remain relatively stable in each quarter.
5. Revenues began to taper off at the onset of winter weather conditions. As revenue reached its peak and then slowly gradually declined into the late fall, it was anticipated that the program would meet its budget targets for the year 2007 (see note #1).
6. As expected, we see a decrease in the number of tickets being issued at photo-enforced, fixed intersection sites as the emphasis on safety is encouraging drivers to adjust their driving habits at these locations.
7. Deferred training in 2006 due to Uniform Patrol/SCU deployment deferred some overtime costs to 2007.
8. There was a correction in the 4th quarter as some salaries and related costs that had been charged to Crime Analysis should have been Division #32-Administration costs.
