Report Summary

Key Issues:

- The City of Winnipeg currently regulates and licenses the carrying on of 80 business activities under the City of Winnipeg License By-law 6551/95.
- As per Red Tape Recommendation 3, an inter-departmental review of the License By-law 6551/95 has been undertaken and consistent with Red Tape Recommendation 3.3 a new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law is proposed.
- The proposed By-law is a new regulatory framework that is based on just three rationales for regulation: public health protection, fire protection and law enforcement/crime prevention.
- Using these three categories, the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law incorporates the following key changes:
    - 49 of the current business licenses are proposed to be eliminated pending some minor modifications to other existing by-laws (see Appendix B).

- Several of these 49 business activities will continue to be regulated through other existing by-laws.
- New licensing provisions are proposed for public swimming pools, whirlpools and large indoor sporting venues.
- As per Red Tape Recommendation 3.2, the Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law will not require a new business to appear before Community Committee to obtain approval to operate. Any need for approvals will now occur under the new Zoning By-law 200/2006 which includes a broad "restricted activities" condition in the zoning system to entirely exclude some regulated activities from certain land designations.
- Where Dating and Escort Services and Massage Parlous can operate will now be regulated by the new Zoning By-law 200/2006 and the Downtown Winnipeg Zoning By-law, rather than the Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law. The new Zoning By-law 200/2006 prohibits them from being located outside the area regulated by the Downtown Zoning By-law. The Downtown Zoning By-law allows them as a conditional use. This change appropriately consolidates land use regulations for Winnipeg businesses within the City's Zoning By-laws. Any future changes with regard to regulating the location of these businesses would be done by Council amendments to the Zoning By-laws, which require public hearing processes.
- The By-law will regulate "Converted Residential Dwellings" as opposed to "Rooming Houses" and identifies regulatory requirements based on fire safety and public health protection.
- The current requirements concerning the collection and transfer to police of personal information from customers which is gathered by used goods dealers (including pawn shops) will be changed to reflect recent case law and be consistent with the goals of law enforcement and crime prevention.

- In addition, several business activities will continue to be licensed pending more substantial reviews of the regulations that affect them. These activities include massagists and massage parlours, escorts and escort services and massage therapists.
- This report proposes that the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law be the primary means for regulating ongoing business activities in Winnipeg, rather than reducing remaining requirements for a license into requirements for conditional occupancy under the Winnipeg Building By-law, as suggested in Red Tape Recommendation 3.4. This approach is based on the following rationale:
- This report proposes that the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law be the primary means for regulating ongoing business activities in Winnipeg, rather than reducing remaining requirements for a license into requirements for conditional occupancy under the Winnipeg Building By-law, as suggested in Red Tape Recommendation 3.4. This approach is based on the following rationale:

- The purpose of the Winnipeg Building By-law's Occupancy Permit is to ensure that new and renovated buildings comply with the construction requirements under the Building Code; and grants permission to occupy any building, or part thereof. This is a one-time approval, designed to regulate land use and construction codes, not the ongoing operation of the business activity.
- In contrast, a business license provides a mechanism for regulating business activities on an ongoing basis. This report therefore recommends that ongoing requirements for health, fire inspections or record keeping for the prevention of crime, would be more suitably enforced under a business licensing system. The proposed Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law is a streamlined approach to regulation that reduces and or eliminates red tape associated with the current License By-law 6551/95.

- The new fee structure will be provided for Council consideration at the time that the new By-law is brought forward. License fees will be structured based on cost-recovery of inspection and enforcement costs. It is expected that the new fee structure will be mill rate support neutral in that any change in costs of enforcement will be offset by a similar change in the total revenue.
- There are a number of outstanding issues that could not be adequately addressed within the scope of this report and will require further analysis and/ or stakeholder consultation, including:
  - Proposed amendment to the Residential Building Fire Safety By-law to align intended use and application.
  - Further information and analysis concerning recent fire inspection obligations imposed by the Province of Manitoba.
  - Reviewing the regulations for massagists, massage parlours, escorts and escort services as well as adult-oriented businesses.
  - Review of the current regulatory requirements for massage therapists.
  - Further review of businesses licensed within the Public Health category, and the possible consolidation of the Food Service Establishment permit and the Business License into one, pending the outcome of the review of jurisdiction responsibility for the delivery of Environmental Health Services as identified in Red Tape Recommendation 21.

General Implications

( ) None

(X) For the organization overall and/or for other departments

1080

(X) For the community and/or organizations external to the City

( ) Involves a multi-year contract

- Comment(s): Adoption of the recommendations proposed in this report will result in the removal of business licensing requirements for 49 business activities and the implementation of a new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law. Several of these business activities will continue to be regulated through other existing by-laws.

Policy Implications

( ) No

(X) Yes

Comment(s): This report proposes that a new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law be adopted for implementation on June 1, 2008 and that the City of Winnipeg License By-law 6551/95 be repealed concurrently with the adoption of the new bylaw.

Regulatory Implications

( ) None

(X) Eliminates or reduces regulatory impact

(X) Proposes regulatory impact

Comment(s): Adoption of the recommendations proposed in this report will result in the removal of business licensing requirements for 49 business activities and the implementation of a new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law.

In preparing the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law every attempt was made to streamline the requirements for like business activities where doing so would not impede the regulatory process. Redundant or unnecessary licensing requirements have been eliminated resulting in a more streamlined approach.

Within the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law, businesses that will be regulated have been grouped into categories that clearly define the rationale for regulation at the municipal level of government. In other cases, regulation has been moved to other more relevant and already existing By-laws.

In the future, the Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law will be amended as necessary to regulate new business activities where this is necessary to protect public health, safety, welfare and to protect people or to prevent or minimize nuisances.

Comment(s): Should Council approve the proposed framework for the Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law contained within this report, financial implications will be provided in a subsequent report brought forward with the actual By-law in April 2008. The financial impact of the new fee structure is anticipated to be mill rate support neutral.

Report

REASON FOR THE REPORT:

At its meeting of March 22, 2006, the Executive Policy Committee directed the Chief Administrative Officer to prepare and forward reports on all remaining recommendations of the Red Tape Commission in an expedited manner, reflecting a list of priorities. One of these recommendations was Recommendation 3, namely:

Eliminate business licenses in the City of Winnipeg. Merge important public safety requirements now in the business license system into the occupancy permit system, and consolidate others within a simpler Doing Business in Winnipeg B-law.

3.1 Repeal the (Business) License By-law effective as of a predetermined transition date.

The motion to do so should include any necessary transitional measures, and businesses normally required to register for a business license would still do so until the transition date(s).

3.2 New rules should be enacted to eliminate the use of Community Committees to approve for any business to operate in any area. Instead, Council should either:

(a) Delegate authority to a designated public servant to approve conditional occupancy for businesses of a certain type in certain locations, and/or

(b) Ensure that any zoning reforms proposed by the ongoing Planning, Property and Development Zoning Review include a broad "restricted activities" condition in any new zoning system to entirely exclude some regulated activities from certain land designations.

3.3 Prior to the transition date, develop a Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law. This by-law would result in the replacement of trade-specific requirements in the business by-law system with a streamlined approach to regulating hours of business, age limits and socially restricted activities in one by-law.

3.4 Phase-in the proposed new system, reducing all remaining requirements for a license into requirements for conditional occupancy, with appropriate penalties.

Under this system, the occupancy permit would be a conditional approval that could be revoked for non-compliance with certain identified conditions attached to each permit. The City should amend by-laws to enact this approach.

Occupants operating a business with historic fire hazards or occupying a location deemed to pose a fire risk will require a regular fire inspection as a condition of occupancy.

Occupants operating a business of traditional concern to law enforcement officials will be required to comply with police access and record review requirements as a condition of occupancy.

Occupants operating a business with health risks or occupying a location deemed likely to pose a health risk will require a regular health inspection as a condition of occupancy.

3.5 While this recommendation is primarily designed to reduce the paperwork burden for small business, it is also designed to better meet public safety expectations by focusing resources and regulations on key areas of public concern, shifting enforcement from a two-layered model into a system based on one permit and one pattern of enforcement.

The Winnipeg Public Service should have appropriate discretion to make organizational changes to achieve this goal in a manner that draws on the talent and experience of all pertinent enforcement offices. If necessary, fee charges described in Recommendation 3.7 should be set to recover costs for cross-training to a maximum use of enforcement experience in the relevant staff units.

3.6 Once operational, the new system should assign fire, police or health inspection requirements flexibly rather than through a fixed, trade-specific by-law schedule to allow the system to remain modern in the face of changes to business practices.

3.7 Under the new system, fees for necessary inspections and enforcement will be charged to the applicant for an occupancy permit on a cost recovery basis, and/or to those businesses receiving inspections and/or complying with record review requirements under the new model. 'Cost-recovery" implies cost-recovery for each enforcement function and its administration in the new occupancy permit system, not simply cost-recovery for the functions transferred from the previous license system.

The transition can and should be broadly revenue-neutral from the City's perspective, based on user-pay adjustments distributing costs to those who apply for occupancy permits, and those who receive user-pay inspections.

The Fiscal Issues Committee should review fees one year after implementation to ensure that the fees in the new system substantially achieve the goal of cost-recovery.

On April 3, 2007 The Standing Policy Committee on Property and Development referred Westminster Housing Society Inc.'s request for amendment to City of Winnipeg License By-law No. 6551/95 – Definition of a Rooming House to the Planning, Property and Development and Community Services Departments for consideration as part of the review by the Red Tape Report Implementation committee of Recommendation No. 3 pertaining to The City of Winnipeg License By-law No. 6551.95, and report back to the Standing Policy Committee on Property and Development for the meeting of the Committee scheduled for November 27, 2007.

On May 6, 2003 the Standing Policy Committee on Property and Development referred a communication from Kirk Brewer, private citizen that advised that the definition of rooming house in the City of Winnipeg License By-law is too broad and requested that the definition be reviewed, to the Community Services Department (License Services Branch) for review and report back.

On April 30, 2007, the Standing Policy Committee on Downtown Development passed the following motion:

WHEREAS the City now encourages residential development in Downtown Winnipeg;

AND WHEREAS the increase in residential land use has created a need to review the provisions of The City of Winnipeg License By-law No. 6551/95 pertaining to Dating and Escort Services in the Downtown sector;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Administration be requested to review the provisions for Dating and Escort Services contained in The City of Winnipeg License By-law No. 6551/95 as it relates to residential land use in the Downtown sector and report back to the Standing Policy Committee on Property and Development, and submitted the matter to the Executive Policy Committee and Council.

On May 16, 2007, Council adopted the recommendation of the Standing Policy Committee on Downtown Development.

HISTORY:

On November 23, 2004, the Mayor officially established a Red Tape Commission to review City operations and regulations in order to improve customer service while granting administrators more freedom to innovate.

The Red Tape Commission submitted a final report, dated June 28, 2005, containing 30 general recommendations, each with numerous more detailed sub-recommendations.

At its meeting of March 22, 2006, the Executive Policy Committee directed the Chief Administrative Officer to prepare and forward reports on all remaining recommendations of the Red Tape Commission, including Recommendation 3.

DISCUSSION:

Background

An inter-departmental committee with representation from Community Services, Internal Services, Planning, Property & Development, Public Works, Winnipeg Fire Paramedic Services, and Winnipeg Police Services was formed to study the feasibility of Red Tape Recommendation 3. Business licensing was examined through multiple lenses including: the role of municipal government; legal jurisdiction; historic practices; business licensing in other municipalities; risk mitigation; and the inter-relationship of other existing by-laws and regulations.

History of Business Licensing in Winnipeg

Business licensing in Winnipeg dates back to 1874 when the City appointed its first Inspector of Fire, Health and Licenses. Needless to say, licensing priorities have changed considerably over time from the early days of licensing hotels, dray horses and water carts. Today the City regulates and licenses the carrying on of 80 business activities under the City of Winnipeg License By-law 6551/95.

What do other Canadian municipalities do?

A comparative study of the business licensing practices in ten other Canadian municipalities was conducted in mid 2007 (See Appendix C). In some municipalities regulatory provisions are dispersed among several by-laws. The business licensing practices of the cities surveyed were as varied as the cities themselves and tended to be quite complex and in some cases difficult to navigate. Some cities like Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon and Vancouver require all businesses to obtain a business license, while others like Halifax and Ottawa regulate very few business activities. No one business activity was regulated by every municipality surveyed, although pawnshops and mobile food vendors came close. Some of this variation may be attributed to the different provincial and municipal roles throughout Canada, but for the most part business licensing appears to reflect the regulatory and taxation priorities of the local government.

Regulating Business Activities

Nearly all businesses in North America in operation today require some form of license, permit, or tax registrations in order to operate. Business licenses and permits are issued at all levels of government, federal, state/ provincial and municipal. For example, there are over 19,000 separate licensing jurisdictions in the United States and each has its own particular licensing requirements. [1] This can be very confusing, time consuming and expensive for entrepreneurs attempting to start up a new business.

A search using BizPal reveals that in Manitoba, the Federal government commonly issues permits and licenses for 21 business activities including: commercial fishing, explosives, quarrying, pilots and aeronautics. The Province of Manitoba in turn issues 45 different business permits and licenses including: cocktail lounges, food service establishments, petroleum and motive fuels, tobacco sales, public water systems and cemeteries.[2] In some cases such as food service establishments, regulated under the Public Health Act, permit requirements are waived where the local municipality has enacted by-laws to regulate the business activity.

Local government has a role and responsibility to protect the social and economic welfare and rights of their citizens and is reflected in the fact that all municipalities regulate businesses to some degree. The most common forms of municipal regulations are zoning and land use, compliance with building codes, environmental, health, and business licensing.

General Authority

Section 148 of The City of Winnipeg Charter states that "Council may, in the interest of health, safety, welfare and protection of persons, or in the interest of preventing or minimizing nuisances, pass by-laws in respect of the following matters:

a) Businesses;
b) The carrying on of a business
c) Persons carrying on a business
d) Premises in which businesses are carried on."

Furthermore, section 149 outlines the provisions for regulating and licensing business activities. (See Appendix D)

Other Policy Considerations:

The City of Winnipeg has a number of land development, taxation and regulatory by-laws that regulate how and where business may be conducted. These include but are not limited to:

- The Downtown Winnipeg Zoning By-law No. 100/2004
- The City of Winnipeg Zoning By-law No. 6400/94 (currently under review)
- X-Rated Store Zoning By-law No. 6087/93 (proposed to be repealed under Zoning By-law review)
- The Winnipeg Building By-law No. 4555/87
- The Maintenance and Occupancy By-law No. 150/2004
- The Body Modification By-law No. 40/2005
- The Fire Prevention By-law No. 150/2004
- The Food Services Establishment By-law No. 5160/89
- License in Lieu of Business Tax By-law (to be repealed January 1, 2008, subject to budgetary considerations)
- The Meat and Poultry By-law No. 3354/83 (proposed to be repealed)
- Milk and Dairy Products By-law No. 3218/82 (proposed to be repealed)
- Refrigerators and Freezers By-law No. 17267/54
- Streets By-law No. 1481/77
- Sunday and Holiday Shopping By-law No. 6283/93
- Taxicab License Fee By-law No. 6123/93

Furthermore on July 11, 2007 the Executive Policy Committee directed the City of Winnipeg Public Service to report back in January 2008 with a plan on the consolidation of responsibility for by-law enforcement.

In addition to examining the roles and inter-relationship of these by-laws with the License By-law, an attempt was made to consolidate related by-laws where appropriate, and to reference other pertinent by-laws where merging the by-laws would make navigating the documents too onerous for business owners.

Final Report of the Mayor's Red Tape Commission:

The Final Report of the Mayor's Red Tape Commission proposed a number of recommendations which impact business licensing and the development of a new Doing Business in Winnipeg by-law including:

- Recommendation 1 – Guidelines and principles to prevent future red tape
- Recommendation 4 – Reform and eventual elimination of home based business licenses
- Recommendation 21 – Make it an intergovernmental priority to eliminate cases of intergovernmental overlap within Winnipeg's jurisdiction. Negotiate agreements with the Government of Manitoba to eliminate jurisdictional conflicts and inconsistencies, especially with respect to by-laws enforcement and health inspections.
- Recommendation 25 – 311 based customer service model

Red Tape Commission Recommendation 3 – Eliminate Business Licenses

Red Tape Recommendation 3 is designed to reduce red tape for small business and to focus the City's resources on key public and municipal regulatory goals.[3]

Rationale for Regulating Business Activities

A balanced approach to business regulation is proposed, that emphasizes the quality of regulation over quantity. Rather than just remove or transfer regulations to an alternate system; it is proposed that business be regulated strategically in order to meet clear specific goals based on sound rationale and good governance.

It is the opinion of the Public Service that business or those engaged in the carrying on of a business should continue to be regulated where it is clearly necessary to address public health, safety, welfare and protection of persons, law enforcement and crime prevention, or in the interest of preventing or minimizing nuisances. This rationale is consistent with the authority vested by the City Charter.

Business licensing has been historically used for a number of purposes. However following the intent of the Red Tape Commissions' recommendations, a strategic framework has been developed that focuses on those business requirements that are pertinent to protecting public health, safety, welfare and protection of persons, law enforcement and crime prevention, or in the interest of preventing or minimizing nuisances.

Recommendation 3.1

"Eliminate business licenses in the City of Winnipeg. Merge important public safety requirements now in the business license system into the occupancy permit system, and consolidate others within a simpler Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law.

[3] Final Report of the Mayor's Red Tape Commission, City of Winnipeg (June 28, 2005)

3.1 Repeal the (Business) License By-law effective as of a predetermined transition date.

The motion to do so should include any necessary transitional measures, and businesses normally required to register for a business license would still do so until the transition date(s)."

A comprehensive review of all 80 business activities regulated under the City of Winnipeg License By-law was conducted resulting in the recommendations contained within this report. The Public Service has identified 49 business activities in which the regulatory requirements are perceived as either being unnecessary, redundant, or regulated by other existing regulatory processes. It is proposed that the licensing requirement be removed for these 49 business activities, pending some minor modifications to other existing by-laws (see Appendix B).

Several business activities were identified as being more aptly regulated through other existing by-laws. For example, business activities that may impede or block City streets of right-of-ways during the course of conducting their business would be more suitably regulated through existing provisions in The Streets By-law and/or The Traffic By-law. The Fire Prevention By-law No. 50/2004, which came into effect in January 2005, now contains qualifications for persons servicing wood burning appliances, thereby making the licensing requirements for Chimney Sweeps redundant.

Some other business activities are regulated by other levels of government, for example tobacco sales and mechanical rides. Requirements for businesses to provide bonds of indemnity were removed as they fall within the realm of consumer protection which is outside the City's mandate.

As recommended by the Final Report of the Mayor's Red Tape Commission, this report proposes repealing the City of Winnipeg License By-law concurrently with the adoption and implementation of the proposed new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law.

The recommendation to "Merge important public safety requirements now in the business license system into the occupancy permit system" is discussed under recommendation 3.4.

Recommendation 3.2

3.2 "New rules should be enacted to eliminate the use of Community Committees to approve for any business to operate in any area. Instead, Council should either:

(c) Delegate authority to a designated public servant to approve conditional occupancy for businesses of a certain type in certain locations, and/or

(d) Ensure that any zoning reforms proposed by the ongoing Planning, Property and Development Zoning Review include a broad "restricted activities" condition in any new zoning system to entirely exclude some regulated activities from certain land designations."

Community Committee Review Process

Under the current License By-law the carrying on of the following business activities "may be injurious to the interests of occupants or owners of property in the vicinity" and therefore every new license application is subject to a review of the license application by the area Community Committee:

- Amusement Parlours* (operating 6 or more days at one location)
- Banquet Hall
- Billiard Parlour*
- Carnival (operating 6 or more days at one location)
- Dance Hall
- Dating and Escort Services
- Karting Track*
- Livery stable*
- Massage Parlour
- Motor Raceway*
- Pawnbroker
- Poultry Slaughter House*
- Second Hand Dealer
- Soup Manufactory*
- Soils Dealer*
- Tannery*
- Undertaker, Funeral Director*
- Used Material Yard

Zoning By-laws

The City of Winnipeg Zoning By-law and the Downtown Winnipeg Zoning By-law regulate land use and development in Winnipeg. The Zoning by-laws regulate types of land use, building heights, density, signs, parking, loading requirements, and provide for urban design review of all development proposals.

Zoning By-laws are used to regulate acceptable land use within a community, determining where a business may be located and regulating development of the property. The Community Committee review process is essentially an additional land use regulatory process. As recommended by the Red Tape Commission, a more property based approach is being recommended as zoning reforms proposed by the new Zoning By-law 200/2006 include a broad "restricted activities" condition in the zoning system to entirely exclude some regulated activities from certain land designations. Based on this, the requirement for the above named business activities to appear before the area Community Committee as a part of the licensing process has been removed. Where businesses can locate will be determined through the Zoning By-law processes.

* No business license required under the new by-law.

Recommendation 3.3

3.3 Prior to the transition date, develop a Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law. This by-law would result in the replacement of trade-specific requirements in the business by-law system with a streamlined approach to regulating hours of business, age limits and socially restricted activities in one by-law.

Why Business Licensing Makes Sense

The issuing of an annual business license is the most common mechanism used to regulate ongoing business activity in Canada. It has proven to be an effective process for tracking and ensuring compliance with reasonable provisions and restriction on specific business activities which may pose a risk to the health, safety and welfare of citizens and visitors. While in theory it may be possible to piggy back on land use (Zoning) or building standards (Winnipeg Building) by-laws to regulate ongoing business activities for those business activities conducted from a permanent business location, there are serious shortcomings and limitations to these methods. The existing land and building based regulatory systems are not designed to regulate ongoing business activities and once zoning and building occupancy are approved the regulatory processes for all intent and purposes ends.

The Public Service is of the opinion that one primary system should be used to license and regulate all ongoing business activities. A new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law is the proposed mechanism for enforcing the regulatory process. A Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law would clearly define those business activities considered to pose a health, safety or crime risk and the specific requirements for business to comply with while conducting their business activity. The by-law would reference applicable sections of other pertinent existing municipal by-laws, such as the Zoning By-law, Fire Prevention By-law, and the Food Services Establishment By-law, as it is not feasible to amalgamate all of the regulatory provisions applicable to business under the Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law at this time.

The Red Tape Commission “found the License By-law to be baffling, obsolete, and too specific.” However they acknowledged that most comparison cities had equally complex systems with the exception of Saskatoon, where every commercial and home based business is required to obtain a business license and pay an identical fee. The Saskatoon model is not recommended as it would not provide the desired regulatory controls, and would for all intent and purposes be a business tax.

In preparing this report every attempt was made to streamline the requirements for like business activities where doing so would not impede the regulatory process. Redundant or unnecessary licensing requirements have been eliminated resulting in a more streamlined approach.

Despite these efforts, it was not possible to conduct the comprehensive review required in order to determine whether the existing regulations affecting several business activities should be changed or remain the same. These business activities include massagists, massage parlours, escorts and escort services and, for an entirely different reason, massage therapists. As a result this report proposes that these business activities continue to be regulated largely as they have been, pending more thorough reviews.

Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law

The City of Winnipeg Charter is clear that the City is authorized to regulate business activities only for the purpose of: protecting public health; safety; welfare and protection of persons; or in the interest of preventing or minimizing nuisances. This therefore serves as the founding principle for business regulations proposed in the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law.

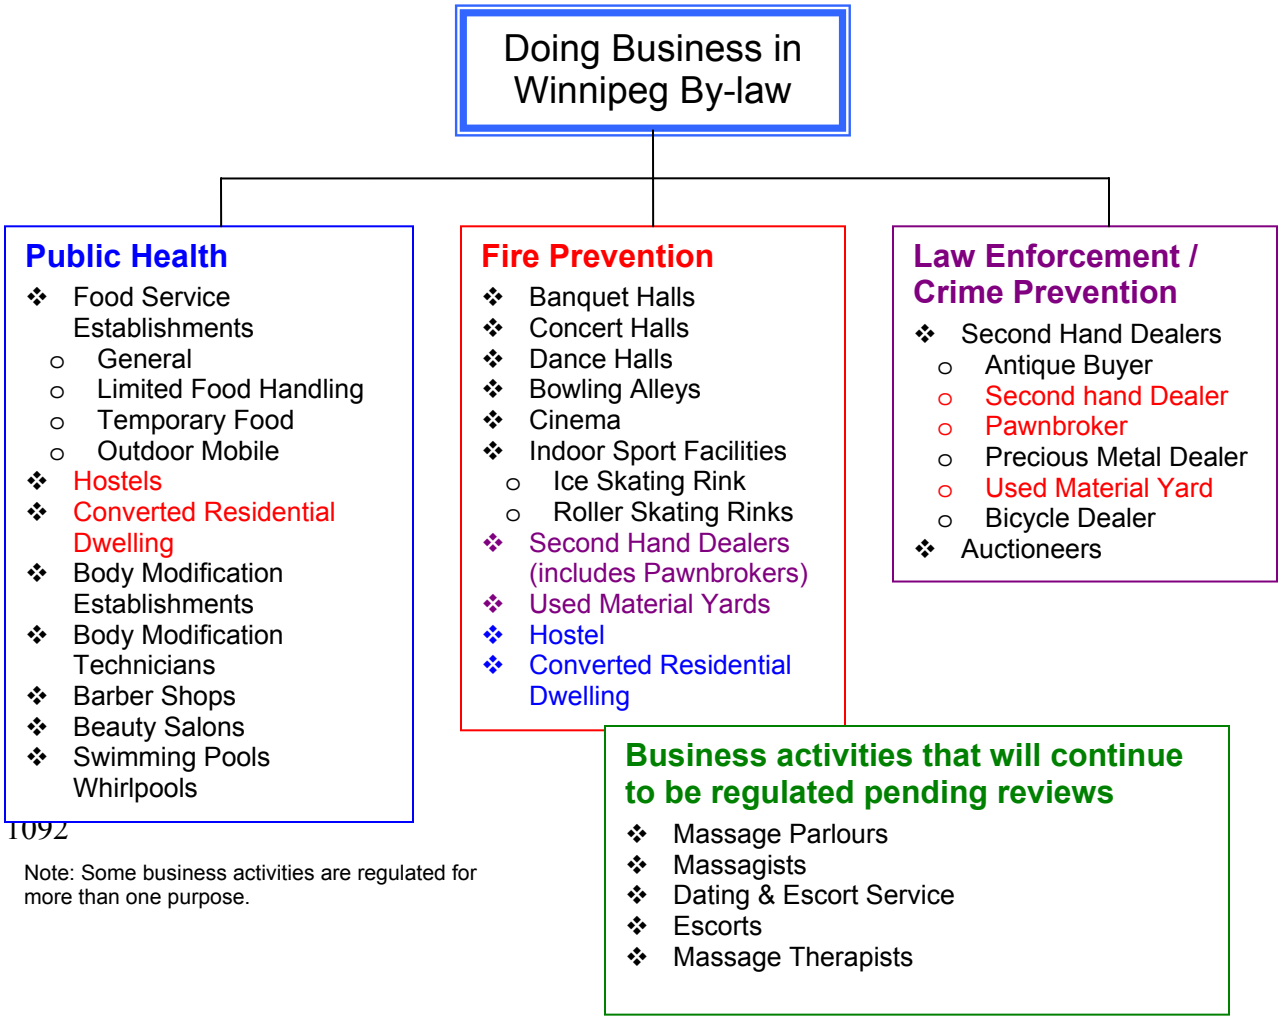
While this principle could, in theory, give rise to numerous rationales for regulation, the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law is based on three main rationales: public health, fire prevention, and law enforcement/ crime prevention. The following chart demonstrates in graphic form how the By-law has applied these rationales to specific business activities. It should be noted that some business activities are regulated in the new By-law under more than one rationale.

In addition, as noted, this report proposes the continued regulation of massagists, massage parlours, escorts and escort services and massage therapists, pending reviews of the regulations controlling these business activities.



Note: Some business activities are regulated for more than one purpose.

Public Health

Food Services

Objective: To enable local authorities to regulate and control businesses which are in the business of food preparation and handling, for the purpose of protecting public health.

Food service establishments and mobile food vendors receive regular health inspections, and in addition to being issued a license under the License By-law, are issued health permits under the Food Services Establishment By-law. In large grocery stores for example, a permit is issued for each separate component of their operation (i.e. a separate health permit for the deli, bakery, and meat areas). The health permit may contain detailed comments or restrictions relative to the specific service area. Consideration should be given to consolidating these licensing and permitting processes into one licensing process.

However, on July 18, 2007 as part of the Red Tape Commission – Recommendation 21 – Jurisdictional Responsibility for the Delivery of Environmental Health Services, Council directed the Administration to do all things necessary to pursue the consolidation of Environmental Health Services under one jurisdiction, and to provide an update to Council in January 2008. Depending on the outcome, this may have an impact on some of the business activities proposed for regulation.

For these reasons it is recommended that current business licensing and permitting process continue at this time, pending the outcome of intergovernmental negotiations on Red Tape Recommendation 21.

Other Sanitary Conditions

Objective: To enable local authorities to regulate and control other business activities which inherently pose a high public health risk, due to the potential for the spread of disease or infection, for the purpose of protecting public health.

Certain business activities pose a higher than average public health risk, due to the nature of the business activity, and therefore should receive regular public health inspections. These business activities falls into three primary categories, the first being short term lodging houses such as hostels and converted residential dwellings which often tae the form of rooming houses.

Both lodging houses (hostels) and rooming houses are regulated under the Public Health Act, Dwelling & Building Regulations as well as the Maintenance and Occupancy By-law and the Minimum Standards of Housing By-law. Environmental Health Services historically receive a high number of complaints regarding unsanitary conditions in rooming houses. For this reason, it is proposed that hostels and converted residential dwellings (rooming houses) receive regular public health inspection. Business licensing provides a mechanism to recoup all or part of the cost of the inspection process.

The next category proposed to be regulated for sanitary conditions is business activities such as body modification establishments and technicians, barber shops, and beauty salons, which offer services where sanitary conditions and clean utensils are essential to prevent the spread of disease or infection. Each of these business activities are currently regulated under the License By-law. There are a few additional like businesses, such as aestheticians and acupuncturists, for whom regulation could be considered. However, prior to expanding the scope or regulatory requirements of these business activities, further analysis and/or stakeholder consultation is required. In addition, it is recommended that regulation not be expanded at this time, pending intergovernmental negotiations on Red Tape Recommendation 21, regarding the jurisdictional responsibility for the delivery of Environmental Health Services.

The last business category proposed to be licensed under the new By-law for sanitary conditions is public and semi-public swimming pools and whirlpools. These are currently required to receive regular public health inspections, but have not previously been licensed. Swimming pools and other water recreational facilities are regulated under The Public Health Act and are subject to an annual operating permit issued by a public health inspector. Business licensing provides a mechanism for tracking and ensuring compliance with the Act and also permits the City to recoup the costs of the on-going inspection process.

Notable Changes: Public and semi-public swimming pools and whirlpools will be required to obtain a business license under the new proposed Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law.

Fire Prevention

Objective: To enable local authorities to regulate and control businesses, which have historically presented a high risk due to the likelihood, or the severity of impact of fire, for the purpose of fire prevention and life safety.

In many situations, facilities with large assembly occupancy may pose an unusually high risk due to the severity of impact in the case of a fire. There are numerous recent examples in North America of fire tragedies that have occurred in assembly occupancies which have resulted in a tremendous loss of life. Besides the potentially huge impact of a fire in a large assembly, the risk of a fire occurring tends to increase in older buildings. Winnipeg has a large stock of aging large assembly occupancies in the form of public and private recreation and leisure facilities which therefore pose a particularly high risk.

To address this concern, the Public Service is proposing that large public leisure facilities continue be licensed to ensure that they receive regular fire inspections, in order to help prevent a major disaster from occurring in the case of a fire. Business activities in assembly occupancies which are currently licensed and inspected for fire prevention reasons include: banquet halls, bowling alleys, concert halls, dance halls, ice skating rinks, and roller skating rinks. It is proposed that all of these should continue to be licensed. In addition, the Public Service is proposing that all large indoor sport facilities be licensed and inspected, in addition to the current ice skating and roller skating rinks.

While it is recognized that ideally all large public facilities should receive regular and ongoing fire inspections, existing constraints make this difficult to achieve. Inspections mandated by the new Fires Prevention and Emergency Response Act has created challenges for the Fire Paramedic Service in that the Fire Prevention Branch cannot currently meet the obligations of the new legislation with its current staffing levels. Furthermore, many assembly occupancies should be inspected outside of regular working hours to ensure that exiting and occupant load requirements are adhered to when such facilities are fully occupied. This is currently not possible due to collective agreement restrictions that specify the hours of work for fire inspectors.

In addition to assembly occupancies, Winnipeg Fire Paramedic Services have identified two other groups of business activities that should continue to be regulated for the purpose of fire prevention and life safety. The first is a group of business activities which inherently pose an unusually high risk of fire due to the storage of goods. This group includes used material yards, pawnbrokers and second hand dealers. The second is a group of rental accommodations which have historically posed a particular fire risk. This includes hostels and single or two-family residential dwellings that have been converted into multiple suites or into a rooming house. Again, these business activities are currently regulated under the License By-law. Note: These business activities also have regulatory requirements for either public health or crime prevention.

Recently enacted regulations under The Fire Prevention & Emergency Response Act require the Winnipeg Fire Paramedic Service to conduct annual fire inspections for a variety of facilities, including elderly and infirm persons' housing, child care centres, personal care homes, residential care facilities, and hospitals. In addition, the regulations require fire inspections at least once every three years for licensed premises, schools, recreation centres, hotels, motels, and restaurants located in buildings that contain one or more dwelling units. Some of these terms have not been clearly defined and the Winnipeg Fire Paramedic Service is attempting to obtain clarification from the Province about the extent of the obligation being imposed. Nevertheless, it is clear that this newly imposed obligation will result in significant additional costs to the City. It is possible that requiring that at least some of these business activities to be licensed would assist the Winnipeg Fire Paramedic Service in meeting these new obligations and recouping at least some of these costs. However, further investigation and analysis is required before such a conclusion can be drawn.

Notable Changes:

Under the proposed new by-law hostels will receive annual fire inspections.

The by-law will regulate “converted residential dwellings” as opposed to “rooming houses” and identify regulatory requirements based on fire safety and public health protection. The definition of converted residential dwelling has been altered to correspond to the definitions of Division II buildings under the Residential Buildings Fire Safety By-law. The definition of “Rooming House” under the existing License By-law is somewhat different than the definition of a “Division II Building” (i.e. Rooming House) under the Residential Buildings Fire Safety By-law. As a result, there are some buildings that currently require a license that should in fact be exempt as they do not pose the same fire and life safety risks as Rooming Houses. To resolve this, the new by-law introduces a revised definition that aligns with the definition under the Residential Buildings Fire Safety By-law.

It should also be noted that certain complications exist with the intended use and application of the Residential Buildings Fire Safety By-law. The by-law should therefore be amended to resolve those issues. However, due to the complexity of the matter, these issues could not be resolved within the scope of this report and therefore will be addressed in a forthcoming report from the Fire Paramedic Service and Planning, Property & Development.

Law Enforcement and Crime Prevention

Used Goods Dealers

Objective: To enable local authorities to regulate and control businesses or those engaged in the business of buying and/or selling of second hand goods, for the purpose of the suppression of conditions that may foster crime and for law enforcement purposes. Including:

a. Second Hand Dealer (includes)
    - Second Hand Dealer
    - Antique Buyer
    - Pawnbroker
    - Precious Metal Dealer
    - Used Material Yard
    - Bicycle Dealer
b. Auctioneers

Current Situation: All businesses are currently licensed and regulated under the City of Winnipeg License By-law. A personal record review is required to conduct each of these business activities and Community Committee approval is required prior to issuing a license for pawnbrokers, second hand dealers and used material yards. Record keeping of description of goods, details of transactions, and customers’ personal information is required.

Property crime directly or indirectly affects more citizens than any other criminal offence and is damaging to both the economy and the City’s reputation as a desirable place to live and do business. Winnipeg has one of the highest break and enter rates in Canada. During the first ten months of 2007 there were 6,011 break and enters committed in Winnipeg, 2,757 of which occurred at residential homes.[4] Statistics Canada reports that Manitoba had 1,074 break and entering per 100,000 population in 2006, significantly higher than the Canadian average of 767.8 per 100,000.[5] Many victims of residential break and enter continue to suffer emotional distress long after the crime occurred. A collaborative study exploring victim impact of residential break and enter conducted by the London, Peel and Ontario Provincial Police found that approximately 40% of victims of residential break and enters reported high trauma scores related to their experience. In 6% of the cases reported the resident found the offender in their home, half of these resulted in some form of physical confrontation.[6]

There were 176 second hand dealers, 28 pawnbrokers, 57 antique buyers, and 53 precious metal dealers licensed in Winnipeg in 2006. Pawnbrokers and other business dealing in second hand goods provide a legitimate service. However since they often obtain merchandise from the general public and other non-regulated sources; they may unknowingly buy and sell stolen goods. Providing a market for stolen merchandise assists, however inadvertently, those who are engaged in thefts, break-and-enters and other similar crimes. Conversely, increasing the likelihood that selling or pawning stolen merchandise will lead to one's arrest will have a deterrent effect. For this reason, provincial and local governments throughout Canada have enacted by-laws requiring businesses engaged in the resale of used goods to collect detailed information on both the merchandise and the customers from whom the goods were obtained, as is the case under the current City of Winnipeg License By-law.

There are numerous purposes behind the collection of this information and its transfer to the police. The swift discovery of stolen goods is an important element in solving property crimes. The sheer volume of pawn/ second hand transactions makes manual data entry by police unrealistically time consuming. Automated reporting systems with data originating at point of sale enables the quick and efficient transmission of data to police and provides law enforcement with powerful search and retrieval capabilities. Many Canadian jurisdictions have implemented, or are in the process of implementing, the mandatory use of automated reporting systems, including the provinces of Alberta, British Columbia and Ontario.

Under the proposed Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law all business engaged in the business of buying and/or selling of second hand goods will be required to use an automated reporting system (one of several available) to record detailed descriptions of the goods and the customer from whom they were obtained, and transmit the data relating to the goods to the Winnipeg Police Services (WPS) each business day. businesses will also be required to provide an electronic address which the WPS may use to contact the business, and to respond to any requests for information made by WPS by 4:00 p.m. on the next business day. The proposed by-law will further simplify and streamline regulatory requirements by imposing the same rules on like business activities by any name. Consequently used bicycle dealers will be required to comply with the same by-law provisions as other businesses dealing in used goods. The regulations will also apply to scrap metal dealers, as the theft of scrap metal has become problematic due to rising scrap metal market prices.

The proposed By-law also responds to recent legal developments, especially recent appellate court decisions, which have examined the municipal requirements for the collection of information by used goods dealers from their customers and the transfer of that information to the police. The courts have expressed concern that too much personal information is required to be collected and to be transferred to local police forces. While the Public Service was already aware of these cases, their relevance to the City's licensing requirements was underlined by correspondence from the Provincial Ombudsman asking how the City intended to respond to these rulings.

The proposed By-law will ensure that adequate information concerning used goods being brought for sale or pawn will continue to be collected and transferred daily to the Winnipeg Police Service. However, in order to safeguard the privacy of individuals who choose to avail themselves of the services of a used goods dealer, including a pawn shop, the By-law will limit the amount of personal information that dealers are required to collect and retain. It will also provide that the personal information may only be provided to the WPS if it is necessary for the purpose of a criminal investigation – this would allow the WPS to obtain personal information, and information about the recent transactions of a person who has pawned or sold goods that WPS have reason to believe were the subject of a theft, break-and-enter or some similar crime, or where the person has been charged with such an offence.

Notable Changes:

In drafting the regulatory provisions for businesses dealing in used or second hand goods, a balance was sought between providing law enforcement the necessary tools to effectively deter the resale of stolen goods, and the protection of the personal privacy of the person from whom the goods were obtained.

Other significant amendments include:

- the elimination of the "hold" period on re-pawned item, thereby permitting the return of pawned goods to their original owner sooner;
- the "hold" provisions have been relaxed for precious and scrap metals acquired from another dealer, in recognition of the unreasonable financial hardship that this was imposing on the industry.
- the elimination of Community Committee approval for new license applications for pawnbrokers, second hand dealers and used material yards

- the elimination of the requirement to provide bonds of indemnity (Pawnbrokers and Auctioneers)

In addition to regulating these business activities the current License By-law regulates amusement parlours and billiard parlours.

With the onset of casinos, the advent of video games and on-line gaming, and the proliferation of cell phones; amusement and billiard parlours are no longer perceived to be a high risk for illegal gaming or drug transactions and are therefore being proposed for deregulation. The hours of operation can be facilitated through conditional uses under the zoning by-laws where necessary. Amusement parlours are regulated under the Amusement Act and licensed under the Gaming Control Act.

Businesses that will Continue to be Regulated Pending Reviews

Massagists, Massage Parlours, Escorts and Escort Services

Massagists, massage parlours, escorts and escort services have traditionally been licensed in Winnipeg and throughout Canada for a variety of reasons, including concerns about public health, inappropriate land uses, crime prevention and the monitoring and suppression of conditions that are conducive to crime. They have been seen as part of a variety of business activities that are often categorized as "adult-oriented" or "adult entertainment" businesses.

Any decisions concerning the continued regulation of these business activities, including decisions to reduce or intensify their regulation, should be made within the broader context of an appropriate approach to the regulation of all adult-oriented businesses. This requires a further, more comprehensive review than was possible as part of this process. Accordingly, it is proposed that these business activities should continue to be licensed under largely the same regulatory scheme until the broader review can take place.

The only change is that, where Dating and Escort Services and Massage Parlous can operate will now be regulated by the new Zoning By-law 200/2006 and the Downtown Winnipeg Zoning By-law, rather than the Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law. The new Zoning By-law 200/2006 prohibits them from being located outside the area regulated by the Downtown Zoning By-law. The Downtown Zoning By-law allows them as a conditional use. This change appropriately consolidates land use regulations for Winnipeg businesses within the City's Zoning By-laws. Any future changes with regard to regulating the location of these businesses would be done by Council amendments to the Zoning By-laws, which require public hearing processes.

Massage Therapists

The existing License By-law requires massage therapists to be licensed. However, the By-law distinguishes them massagists by virtue of the fact that massage therapists are health practitioners who have graduated from a recognized school. Many of the concerns that have prompted the licensing of massagists, therefore, are irrelevant to massage therapists. The only concern that could justify continued licensure of massage therapists is a public health and safety concern.

Normally, of course, the public health and safety concerns associated with the practice of a health profession are dealt with by Provincial professional legislation. Such legislation is designed to ensure that health practitioners receive appropriate levels of professional education, supervision and training and continue to be governed by regulatory bodies that ensure that their services are provided ethically and safely. This approach affords the public with considerably greater protection than a municipal licensing system could possibly provide; as noted, the City's current licensing system focuses on ensuring that massage therapists have graduated from an approved training program but is not designed to provide ongoing assurances of competence. It is not entirely clear why the Province has declined to date to enact professional legislation that would govern massage therapists.

In light of the reliance placed on the City's licensing of massage therapists by the health insurance industry, the general public and massage therapists themselves, the Public Service proposes that the City's existing licensing regime for massage therapists should remain in force for the time being. However, it is also recommended that more investigation should be conducted, stakeholder consultation initiated and the Province consulted with a view to determining an appropriate long-term regulatory response by the City of Winnipeg.

Recommendation 3.4

3.4 Phase-in the proposed new system, reducing all remaining requirements for a license into requirements for conditional occupancy, with appropriate penalties.

Under this system, the occupancy permit would be a conditional approval that could be revoked for non-compliance with certain identified conditions attached to each permit. The City should amend by-laws to enact this approach.

Occupants operating a business with historic fire hazards or occupying a location deemed to pose a fire risk will require a regular fire inspection as a condition of occupancy.

Occupants operating a business of traditional concern to law enforcement officials will be required to comply with police access and record review requirements as a condition of occupancy.

Occupants operating a business with health risks or occupying a location deemed likely to pose a health risk will require a regular health inspection as a condition of occupancy.

This report proposes that the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law be the primary means for regulating ongoing business activities in Winnipeg, rather than reducing remaining requirements for a license into requirements for conditional occupancy under the Winnipeg Building By-law, as suggested in Red Tape Recommendation 3.4. This approach is based on the following rationale:

The Winnipeg Building By-law – Conditional Occupancy Permits

The Winnipeg Building By-law establishes administrative requirements and procedures for enforcement of the Building and Mobile Homes Act. It applies to new and existing construction including: design, construction, placement, alteration, repair, renovation, demolition, relocation, removal, occupancy or change in occupancy of any buildings or structure. The by-law regulates the issuing of building permits including: building, demolition, electrical, plumbing, sign permits, and the licensing of plumbing contractors.

A Building Occupancy Permit is permission to occupy any building, or part thereof, issued under The Winnipeg Building By-law. An Occupancy Permit is generally required for a new or renovated building, change in occupancy load, and a change in use or tenant. It is designed to ensure that new and renovated buildings comply with the construction requirements under the Building Code. An Occupancy Permit is issued after all applicable inspections are completed to confirm that the project has been substantially completed and that building meets all life safety requirements under the Building By-law. Any building predating the Building By-law, that has not undergone construction or a change in major occupancy, would not have an occupancy permit.

Temporary Building Occupancy Permits many be issued for the use of a building or structure approved as a temporary building or structure under the by-law. They may be issued for a period of not more than one year and renewed for a further one year period. While in theory the Winnipeg Building By-law could be amended to “reduce all remaining requirements for a license into requirements for conditional occupancy, with appropriate penalties”, it would not be an effective means of either regulating business activity, or reducing red tape. Zoning and building by-laws are designed to regulate land use and construction codes, not the ongoing operation of the business activity. Once zoning and building code requirements have been met and an occupancy permit issued the regulatory process for all intent and purposes ends. There is no ongoing inspection or regulatory process associated with either zoning or building occupancy permits. By-laws restricting the use of property on which a business is located or regulating how a building is constructed should not be used to control the manner in which a business is carried on.

The licensing system has proven to provide an effective mechanism for regulating ongoing business activities. It is therefore the opinion of the Public service that the ongoing requirements for health, or fire inspections, or record keeping for the prevention of crime, would be more suitably enforced under a business licensing system. The proposed Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law is a streamlined approach to regulation that reduces and or eliminates red tape associated with the current License By-law 6551/95.

Recommendation 3.5 and 3.6

3.5 While this recommendation is primarily designed to reduce the paperwork burden for small business, it is also designed to better meet public safety expectations by focusing resources and regulations on key areas of public concern, shifting enforcement from a two-layered model into a system based on one permit and one pattern of enforcement.

The Winnipeg Public Service should have appropriate discretion to make organizational changes to achieve this goal in a manner that draws on the talent and experience of all pertinent enforcement offices. If necessary, fee charges described in Recommendation 3.7 should be set to recover costs for cross-training to a maximum use of enforcement experience in the relevant staff units.

3.6 Once operational, the new system should assign fire, police or health inspection requirements flexibly rather than through a fixed, trade-specific by-law schedule to allow the system to remain modern in the face of changes to business practices.

The existing land and building based regulatory systems are not designed to regulate ongoing business activities and once a building occupancy permit is issued the regulatory process for all intent and purposes ends. Therefore, shifting enforcement from a two-layered model into a system based on one permit and one pattern of enforcement is not recommended for the reasons put forth under recommendation 3.4 above.

Furthermore, this recommendation proposes cross-training enforcement officers to be able to assign fire, police or health inspection requirements flexibly rather than through a fixed, trade-specific by-law schedule.

Transfer of License Services to the Proposed By-law Enforcement Unit

A number of recent and impending policy decisions impact the License Branch. On July 11, 2007, Executive Policy Committee directed the City of Winnipeg Public Service to report back by January 2008 with a plan to consolidate the responsibility for by-law enforcement under one body through the creation of an identifiable stand-alone by-law enforcement unit. The Public Service was further directed to identify a plan to cross train by-law enforcement officers in the enforcement of all civic by-laws and to identify all by-laws where cross training can not be performed.

The creation of a by-law enforcement unit would enable the consolidation of some by-law enforcement provisions. Licence inspectors could be incorporated into such a system, however most fire inspections and health enforcement regulations require inspections by designated Fire Inspectors and Public Health Inspectors respectively.

Licenses issued under the current City of Winnipeg License By-law No. 6551/95 are administered and enforced by the Community Services Department, License Branch. In addition to business licensing, the License Branch administers the issuing of permits and licenses under a number of other by-laws including:

- Licence in Lieu of Business Tax By-law 122/200
- Taxicab License Fee By-law No. 6123/93
- Streets By-law No. By-law 1481/77 (for vending machines on city streets)
- Raffle Lottery License By-law No 7470/99
- Civic Charities Applications & Permits By-law No. 6916/96

A number of recent and impending policy decisions impact the License Branch. The Final Report of the Mayor's Red Tape Commission proposed a number of recommendations which impact business licensing including:

- Recommendation 4 – Reform and eventual elimination of home based business licenses
- Recommendation 21 – Make it an intergovernmental priority to eliminate cases of intergovernmental overlap within Winnipeg's jurisdiction. Negotiate agreements with the Government of Manitoba to eliminate jurisdictional conflicts and inconsistencies, especially with respect to by-laws enforcement and health inspections.
- Recommendation 25 – 311 based customer service model

On April 25, 2007 Council adopted the following recommendation as part of the Red Tape Commission – Recommendation 4:

> That subject to Council approving increased revenues, service reductions/and or efficiencies during the 2008 budget process in order to offset the loss of license-in-lieu of business tax revenue; that the License In Lieu of Business Tax By-law 122/2003 be repealed effective January 1, 2008 as the third step of Council's reduction of business tax;

On October 24, 2007 Council adopted an internally operated model of service delivery for a consolidated 311 service. The new 311 centre is anticipated to "go live" within 12 to 18 months.

Furthermore on July 11, 2007 the Executive Policy Committee directed the City of Winnipeg Public Service to report back in January 2008 with a plan to consolidate the responsibility for by-law enforcement under one body through the creation of a stand-alone by-law enforcement unit.

As these initiatives are implemented the staff compliment of the License Branch will be reduced significantly. It is proposed that the License Branch continue to administer business licensing under the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law until such time as the by-law enforcement unit is created. With the implementation of the by-law enforcement unit all remaining functions of the License Branch could be incorporated into the new by-law enforcement unit, thereby ensuring a smoother transition.

Recommendation 3.7

3.7 Under the new system, fees for necessary inspections and enforcement will be charged to the applicant for an occupancy permit on a cost recovery basis, and/or to those businesses receiving inspections and/or complying with record review requirements under the new model. 'Cost-recovery" implies cost-recovery for each enforcement function and its administration in the new occupancy permit system, not simply cost-recovery for the functions transferred from the previous license system.

The transition can and should be broadly revenue-neutral from the City's perspective, based on user-pay adjustments distributing costs to those who apply for occupancy permits, and those who receive user-pay inspections.

The Fiscal Issues Committee should review fees one year after implementation to ensure that the fees in the new system substantially achieve the goal of cost-recovery.

New License Fees

Following the approval of the framework for the new Doing Business In Winnipeg By-law proposed within this report, a license fee schedule that reflects the actual cost of carrying out regulatory services will be provided for Council consideration at the same time as the new Doing Business In Winnipeg By-law is brought to Council (April 2008). Licensing, by-law enforcement, record review and inspection process costs will be consolidated into the new fee structure.

Implementation Plan

It is proposed that the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law be adopted for implementation on June 1, 2008 to align with the licensing year for the majority of business activities licensed under the current City of Winnipeg License By-law.

Under the current by-law, hawkers, outdoor mobile food vendors, plant stalls and rooming houses licenses are renewable on January 1st. Plant stalls and hawkers will no longer require a business license under the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law. Therefore, it is recommended that the business license requirements under the City of Winnipeg License By-law No. 6551/95 for hawkers, and plant stalls be repealed effective January 1, 2008. As a transition measure, business licenses issued under the City of Winnipeg License By-law No. 6551/95 that are subsisting at the time the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law takes effect will be recognized as valid until their expiry date (This will only effect mobile food vendors and rooming houses).

Communication Plan

A public communication plan will be developed to inform business owners of the new provisions and fees under the Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law. The updated information will be made available online via the City website and through BizPal, a free web-based service operated by Industry Canada which allows business owners to generate a list of all permits and licensing requirements from all levels of government through a simple on-line question and answer wizard.

Human Resource Implications

Business licensing accounted for 46.18% of the total licenses processed by the License Branch in 2006. It is estimated that the number of business licensed issued would be reduced by 24.85% under the new Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law; however the business activities that will continue to be licensed account for the majority of the by-law enforcement inspections that are conducted by the branch.
The License Branch has a total of 17 full time equivalents (FTE's) in the 2007 Operating Budget. Of that a reduction of 2.6 FTEs was proposed with repealing of the License in Lieu of Business Tax, 3 FTEs have been allotted to the new 311 centre, and one FTE is assigned to the Bicycle Recovery program.

The City of Winnipeg Public Service is to report back by January 2008 with a plan to consolidate the responsibility for by-law enforcement under one body through the creation of an identifiable stand-alone by-law enforcement unit. Given the interrelationship of these two initiatives, any further staff re-structuring will occur at the time of formation of the proposed By-law Enforcement Unit.

Limitations of the Current Review

The need for regulatory systems like business licensing reflects the issues and concerns of the community at a particular point in time. What is required today to protect the health, safety, welfare of the community, may or may not reflect our future needs. There will always be a need to regulate some new business activities due to changing trends and emerging issues; it is an ongoing process. The current analysis is limited to those regulatory processes that could reasonably be achieved within the time frame allotted. Further analysis will be required on emerging issues, such as after-hour and youth dance halls, to determine if regulatory provisions are needed for other business activities.

There are a few licensing issues that, due to the complexity of the matter, could not be resolved within the scope of this report and will require further analysis and/or stakeholder consultation. In such cases the status quo has been maintained until such time that the issues can be addressed with due diligence. Outstanding issues include:

- Proposed amendment to the Residential Building Fire Safety By-law to align intended use and application.
- Further information and analysis concerning recent fire inspection obligations imposed by the Province of Manitoba.

- Reviewing the regulations for massagists, massage parlours, escorts and escort services as well as adult-oriented businesses.
- Review of the current regulatory requirements for massage therapists.
- Further review of businesses licensed within the Public Health category, and the possible consolidation of the Food Service Establishment permit and the Business License into one, pending the outcome of the review of jurisdiction responsibility for the delivery of Environmental Health Services as identified in Red Tape Recommendation 21.

FINANCIAL IMPACT

Should Council approve the proposed framework for the Doing Business in Winnipeg By-law contained within this report, financial implications will be provided in a subsequent report brought forward with the actual By-law in April 2008. The financial impact of the new fee structure is anticipated to be mill rate support neutral.
