Comments in writing: PLACES TO GO  This effort is nice, but moving in the wrong direction.  This important discussion seems to be missing any frank assessment of the situation.  Having washroom facilities for anyone who has no other options is good.  This whole effort seems to miss the greater need, felt by those who "are unhoused" for a warm and private space.  A plastic porta-potty or a bus shelter can serve this purpose, but not very well.  Until the city can reduce or meet this primary need, it will confound the effort to provide places to go.
