Subject: Residential speed

Good day to you
Shawn Nason posted today if we wanted to have our say in the residential speed zones for transcona to send you an email.
I don't see anything wrong with the current 50km except in school zones. However I would support 40km across the board including school zones. Switching up speed limits is confusing for some and if it was the same everywhere less people would speed though school zones.

Thanks for letting me have my say
