Dear City Clerk,

Winnipeg has about 6% of its total area devoted to green space, while the national average for cities is 9%.

With climate breakdown underway we cannot afford to be the laughing stock of generation Z for reducing our already tiny share of parkland.

We must not fall to developers and/or councillors who think only of the short term.
Green spaces supporting community activities lower costs to healthcare and reduces crime.

Warren Buffet once said in a moment of candour: “The rich are waging a war on the poor, and the rich are winning.”

Let’s not make this Winnipeg’s epitaph.

Thank you.
