Comments in writing: EPC #3 Human rights. For 2 years now, the HRCC has shown that it is little more than a useful tool for virtue signaling. Several rights issues have made the headlines in the past few years. There seems to be no mention of some of them in this report. In the past few years, city hall has been reminded by members of the public that their actions may be in violation. The frequency of these warnings and the actions that some feel are violations has increased in the past year. The 2022 HR Virtue Signal Report seems to make no mention of these, even as the MANITOBA HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION ponders violations by the city. On a related and more serious matter, if City Hall actively resists discussion of important safety and rights issues, can we expect improvement?
