Comments in writing: Your audit team is objective and professional. What they warn you about should not be ignored. I suggest that you either change the way the city does things, or bring in new means of monitoring finances.
The primary warning is that current processes do not deter fraud. They also allow unsustainable levels of spending. There is no indication, during discussions of new spending, that anyone is aware that taxes are high, and that the city has been out of money for 2 years now.
