REPORT SUMMARY

Key Issues:

- The North-South Transcona Route is an eastern section of the Inner Ring Route, serving as a connection between Chief Peguis Trail, the Trans-Canada Highway and Bishop Grandin Boulevard.
- The alignment as it appears in Plan Winnipeg 2020 Vision (routed along Ravelston Avenue West and joining Plessis Road at the intersection of Plessis Road and Ravelston Avenue) posed several issues including route efficiency; neighbourhood and environmental impact; vehicle and pedestrian safety and capital costs. The alignment was reviewed by Public Works in March 2003.
- The Executive Policy Committee concurred with the review's recommendation that the North-South Transcona Route should be realigned to the Bradley Street Alignment (see map in Attachment 1). The proposed realignment has significant advantages over the existing alignment.

REASON FOR THE REPORT:

Under the City of Winnipeg Charter, Executive Policy Committee is the designated hearing body responsible for Plan Winnipeg.

HISTORY:

The North-South Transcona Route is a proposed regional street that is included in the Transportation Concept Plan of Plan Winnipeg 2020 Vision, for consideration beyond 2020. The route will serve as the eastern leg of the Inner Ring/Loop Route connecting to Chief Peguis Trail to the north, the Trans-Canada Highway and Bishop Grandin Boulevard to the south (see map in Attachment 1). The route is intended to accommodate regional and local traffic demands and to facilitate orderly traffic operation for future development in the area between Lagimodiere Boulevard and Plessis Road.

A 1992 review of alignment alternatives recommended that the route remain on a straight north-south alignment through the City-owned land that had been acquired directly adjacent to Bradley Street. In June 1993, the above-described alignment was shown on the Recommended Transportation System Plate of Plan Winnipeg Towards 2010.

The existing alignment was altered in Plan Winnipeg 2020 Vision. The portion of the route south of Ravelston Avenue West was eliminated and the route was redirected eastward to Plessis Road via Ravelston Avenue West. Although a review of transportation impacts was not completed, Plan Winnipeg 2020 Policy Plate C was adopted illustrating the revised alignment.

On March 11, 2003 the Standing Policy Committee on Public Works requested a review of the North-South Transcona Route Alignment (as identified in Plan Winnipeg 2020 Vision) and on December 9, 2003, recommended that the North-South Transcona Route be realigned to the Bradley Street Alignment and that Plan Winnipeg be amended to reflect the revised alignment (see map in Attachment 1).

The Executive Policy Committee concurred with this recommendation on January 14, 2004.

DISCUSSION:

Public Works administration conducted an extensive and comprehensive review of the North-South Transcona Alignment by evaluating the existing and proposed realignment in accordance with the following criteria:

- Route Location and Efficiency
- Neighbourhood Impact
- Environmental Impact

- Safety
- Property Requirements
- Capital Costs

The results of that analysis and the recommendation for alteration of the alignment are summarized in the Administrative Report to the Standing Policy Committee on Public Works dated November 26, 2003.

As a result of subsequent decisions to proceed with the realignment both from the Standing Policy Committee on Public Works and the Executive Policy Committee, an amendment to Policy Plate C in Plan Winnipeg 2020 Vision is required to implement the change.

Amending Plan Winnipeg to reflect the realignment will ensure that the pending secondary plan for the area will properly accommodate the North-South Ring Road and plan for any impacts associated with it.

Financial Impact Statement

Date: June 25, 2004

COMMENTS:

The recommendation in this report is that a by-law be forwarded to Council for first reading to allow for a public hearing on the issue of the North-South Transcona Route Alignment, which requires a Plan Winnipeg Amendment. There is no financial impact associated with this recommendation.
