A review of grant applications. With the frequency of councilors seeking to spend tax dollars in ways that violate the rules, some residents want more enforcement of those rules. Failure to follow rules leads voters to believe that governance no longer matters at city hall. Let's all work toward better fiscal management. We are nearly out of money, and must stop all spending that is not essential. EPC 7, 8, 9: The city is nearly out of money. It is time to just say no to non-essential spending and spending that can be postponed. It is time to bring back the fiscal prudence from long ago. Your taxpayers must limit their spending to match their fiscal means; they expect you to do so too.
