REASON FOR THE REPORT:

City Council has the authority to establish a procurement policy for the City.

HISTORY:

The City of Winnipeg Policy on Purchasing Procedures and the Disposal of Surplus Supplies (Policy C261) was adopted by Council on February 10, 1988. The City of Winnipeg Policy on Assignment of Consultants (Policy C333) was established in 1990.

Under the New Directions Initiative in 1994/1995, the Purchasing Department was dissolved and the Materials Management Division of Corporate Finance was established with a significant change in mandate.

In 1997, as a result of the Cuff Report, the City changed from a Board of Commissioners to a City Manager Model of Governance.

Pursuant to Section 214 of The City of Winnipeg Charter, Council has the authority to establish a procurement policy for the City.

DISCUSSION:

The fundamental thrust of the new Materials Management Policy is to institute the changes brought about by the New Directions Initiative and the change to a City Manager Model of Governance. In doing so there were several major conceptual changes from the current Policy on Purchasing Procedures and the Disposal of Surplus Supplies:

i.) The new Materials Management Policy is more inclusive in that it will replace both the Policy on Purchasing Procedures and the Disposal of Surplus Supplies and the Policy on Assignment of Consultants (including professional services). Any reference to procurement or purchasing is therefore all inclusive except for those specific exclusions contained in Section B1.2 of the proposed new Materials Management Policy, namely:

a) a supply of financial services; or
b) a supply of real property; or
c) a supply by the City of municipal services; or
d) a contract of employment or collective agreement; or
e) a contract entered into by The Board of Trustees of The Winnipeg Civic Employees' Benefit Program (Pension Fund) or the Sinking Fund Trustees; except to the extent that the Chief Administrative Officer shall by Directive determine otherwise.

ii.) The award authority of the Chief Administrative Officer has increased from one million dollars to ten million dollars where there is an absolute commitment of funds as long as funds are available in an approved budget. City Council control is therefore shifted more to approval of the budget, delineating guiding principles and establishing this policy.

iii.) All delegation to the administration is via the Chief Administrative Officer. This is consistent with the City Manager Governance Model and The City Organization By-Law #7100/97. The previous policy split the delegation between the Board of Commissioners and the then Director of Purchasing.

iv.) The new Materials Management Policy has been written more precisely to contain that which is necessary to define the legal authority for the administration to act. Matters pertaining to administrative direction and procedure such as differentiation between Invitation to Tender, Request for Proposal and Request for Quotation have been eliminated from the new Materials Management Policy. The Chief Administrative Officer will issue directives and establish procedures for the due administration of the new Materials Management Policy.

v.) Terminology and definitions are consistent with the Excise Tax Act where possible. There are tax implications involved with all acquisitions. It was considered prudent that consistent terminology be used to the greatest extent possible.

The new Materials Management Policy is free of administrative directives and procedures. The directives and procedures will be developed and implemented under the authority of the Chief Administrative Officer. The City has implemented a major automated system which will include a significant change to the materials management functions and processes. The directives and procedures will be developed in conjunction with the new system.

The delegation of authority contemplated by this Materials Management Policy is consistent with the City Manager Model of Governance and The City Organization By-Law #7100/97. This authority provides the flexibility necessary for effective and timely decision-making in order to implement administrative direction and procedure in pursuit of affordable government. Council's due diligence in the expenditure of monies is still exercised by way of the budget approval process and development of the Materials Management Policy, including guiding principles.

Under the current Policy on Purchasing Procedures and the Disposal of Surplus Supplies, the Chief Administrative Officer has award authority for up to one million dollars and under the Policy on Assignment of Consultants has unlimited award authority so long as there are funds available in an approved budget. In addition, the Chief Administrative Officer has authority to award term contracts where there is no absolute commitment of funds for up to five million dollars and terms of up to five years. The new Materials Management Policy contemplates an increase in the threshold value from one million dollars to ten million dollars where there is an absolute commitment of funds and there are funds approved in a budget. In addition, the authority to award term contracts where there is no absolute commitment of funds and the term does not exceed five years includes an increase in the threshold value from five million dollars to an estimated value of ten million dollars. A contract does not create an absolute commitment for the City to pay the contractor if a contract:

(a) provides that goods or services would be ordered only when required and only in the quantities ordered by the City; or
(b) in the case of a continuous supply of goods or services, provides that the City could interrupt or discontinue the supply without cost if no longer required or if sufficient funds ceased to be available; or
(c) only creates a unilateral option for the City to order goods or services if and when sufficient funds became available.

Council's authority will not in any way be usurped, since the administration will only order goods or services under the contract if and when Council approves a budget either for the express purpose of such purchases, or for a project or program which implicitly requires such purchases.

The new Materials Management Policy does not change the current policy wherein approval must be obtained from the appropriate Standing Committee or Council when sufficient funding is not available in an approved budget.

Although this report recommends the repeal of both the Policy on Purchasing Procedures and the Disposal of Surplus Supplies and the Policy on Assignment of Consultants, any administrative reports currently required to be submitted to Council pursuant to these policies will continue to be submitted until Council expressly discontinues the requirement.

The Additional References section of the new Material Management Policy refers to other applicable Council policies. Additional policies, such as policies relating to unfair labour practices, will be added as they are adopted by Council.
