Comments in writing: SERVICES #2 the public would be better served if a wide swath of notices of money owed were to go out by registered or equal postal service. Knowing that the person signed for the notice defines any that go unpaid as bad debts. This would reduce income by less than 1% in most cases. Knowing that the address was incorrect would enable the city to take next action sooner. Getting better ID from ambulance users is also good.

PW #1: removing pointless bylaws is good. I believe that the city should evaluate its other 635 bylaws to see which ones serve a net benefit to the city or to its people and businesses. Those that fail this test should also be rescinded.
