EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Public Service is seeking Council approval to request the Province of Manitoba enact legislation to deem certain City services essential.

Essential services legislation ensures that, when collective bargaining agreements are in negotiation, the employer can have assurance that those services and positions impacting life, limb, critical infrastructure, personal safety, public safety, and public health will continue in the event of a labour disruption.

Provincial legislation already prevents Winnipeg police officers, firefighters and paramedics from going on strike, with their labour disputes sent to arbitration when a deal can't be reached at the bargaining table. Further, the collective agreements for both the Winnipeg Association of Public Service Officers (WAPSO) and the Winnipeg Fire Paramedic Senior Officers' Association (WFPSOA) contain language that allows a collective bargaining impasse to be referred to an interest arbitrator for settlement. However, there are a number of City services not covered under existing legislation, including water treatment and distribution, sewage collection, and treatment and fire paramedic 911 operations. The majority of these positions are expected to be delivered by CUPE 500 staff members.

To preserve core services in the event of a labour disruption, the Province of Manitoba has enacted The Essential Services Act (Health Care) and The Essential Services Act (Government and Child and Family Services). Services protected under The Essential Services Act (Government and Child and Family Services) are listed in Appendix A.

The City's request for legislative changes is consistent with existing provincial law.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. That Council direct the Public Service to seek provincial legislation for essential services for positions impacting life, limb, critical infrastructure, personal safety, public safety, and public health.

2. That the proper officers of the City do all things necessary to implement the intent of the foregoing.

REASON FOR THE REPORT

Council approval is required to request changes to provincial legislation.

IMPLICATIONS OF THE RECOMMENDATIONS

There are no financial or administrative implications to the recommendations of this report

HISTORY/DISCUSSION

An essential services agreement would provide assurance that a limited number of staff would continue to deliver essential services in the event of a labour disruption. If the employer and the union cannot agree to essential services, the matter would be referred to a mediator (agreed to by both parties) for resolution before a work stoppage could occur.

The essential services that could potentially be included in provincial legislation include:

- Buildings - security, emergency repairs and maintenance
- City governance (e.g. support to City Council, election)
- Financial processes (e.g. payroll and payment of vendors)
- Technical support for critical systems
- Emergency road and bridge repair
- Traffic management/barricading
- Snow clearing
- Transit Plus support services
- WFPS 911 operations center
- Water treatment and distribution
- Sewage collection and treatment
- Land drainage and flood control

During recent collective agreement negotiations, the Public Service made several unsuccessful attempts to negotiate an essential services agreement with CUPE Local 500. The City's proposal for the maintenance of essential services would have involved ten percent (10%) or less of the Union's membership.

The absence of an essential services agreement in this most recent round of bargaining highlighted several significant risks, including:

Environmental Risk

Failure to operate the sewage collection and treatment system could result in Environment Act violations, raw sewage spills, flooded basements, harm to rivers and Lake Winnipeg, and more combined sewer overflows. It would take months to recover from a system failure and at a significant cost.

Public Health Risk

Failure to operate the water treatment and distribution system could result in non-potable water that would require a boil water advisory. A boil water advisory would be catastrophic to the health care system (hospitals, personal care homes), schools and daycares. People could become sick or die if they did not follow the boil water advisory. It would take months to recover from a system failure and at a significant cost.

Public Safety Risk
A loss of water distribution pumping stations could result in the loss of fire protection.

Economic Risk
An interruption in water would require restaurants to close. Hotels would incur additional costs to host guests. Manufacturing could be negatively impacted, etc.

This Provincial legislation could also benefit those rural municipalities that rely on Winnipeg for certain essential services.

A jurisdictional scan of legislation in western Canada and Ontario is attached as Appendix B.

OURWINNIPEG POLICY ALIGNMENT

Goal alignment: Leadership and Good Governance
• Acting in the intergenerational, and city-wide public interest, for broad community benefit
• Responsiveness to community needs and human rights

Goal alignment: Environmental Resilience
- Providing equitable access to, and responsible management of, potable water and urban sanitation
- Providing equitable access to affordable, reliable, and renewable energy sources
- Providing responsible consumption, production, and end-of-life management of non-renewable resources
- Eliminating sources of pollution, including carbon pollution, and other hazardous materials

Goal alignment: Good Health and Well-Being
A healthy city supports the provision of basic needs, social determinants of health, and human rights through equitable access to food, water, housing, income, employment, transportation, recreation, literacy, and social inclusion. These needs are best addressed through effective cross-sector collaboration, promoting good physical and mental health for all.

WINNIPEG CLIMATE ACTION PLAN ALIGNMENT

The continued operation of essential services, including water and sewage treatment, is critical to the City's ongoing commitment to climate action and its compliance with The Water Protection Act – To provide for the protection and stewardship of Manitoba's water resources and aquatic ecosystems. Includes watershed planning, protection of wetlands, and establishing water quality standards. Requires the City to upgrade the North End Sewage Treatment Plant to include biological nutrient removal to minimize nutrients discharged to local waterways. It also requires the City to reuse the wastewater biosolids, and to recover the nutrients from the biosolids to the maximum extent possible.
