Comments in writing: I would ask that Council reconsider allowing STRs for non-primary residence properties, or at the very least, not allow so many additional non-primary properties to be grandfathered in. These choices are taking too many housing units away from the local population and turning too many homes into ghost hotels, to the detriment of their neighbours and communities. Additionally, I would ask that, for STRs located in condo buildings and therefore requiring approval letters from condo boards, condo boards be able to rescind their approval letters (and therefore the license) should the units become deemed a persistent problem for the building.
