EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The City of Winnipeg (City) wants a diverse workforce at all levels of the organization. A diverse Public Service can better serve diverse residents. The 2024 Annual Workforce Diversity Report (Report) shares progress on this strategic priority. The Report also includes updates on the Equity, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI) Strategy and Anti-Racism and Anti-Oppression (ARAO) activities.

The Report provides workforce data with a focus on the six equity groups. Employees voluntarily complete the Self-Declaration Questionnaire (SDQ). An employee may self-declare in more than one equity group; this information is included in the data on Intersectionality. Groups analyzed are: Indigenous Peoples, Racialized Peoples, Women, 2SLGBTQQIA+ Peoples, Persons with Disabilities, Newcomers, and Intersectionality.

The City employed 10,793 people in 2024[1]. Representation increased for six groups: Indigenous Peoples, Racialized Peoples, 2SLGBTQQIA+ Peoples, Persons with Disabilities, Newcomers, and Intersectionality. The equity group of Women is the only one that decreased slightly from 2023 levels. The data show that under-representation continues in all groups, with the largest gaps for Women and Persons with Disabilities.

The Diversity Dashboard (DD) provides diversity data to Departments. Updated every two weeks, this data can be used by Departments to inform their program and recruitment plans. The DD shows how each Department is doing in relation to the City's diversity goals. Diversity data are also published to the City's Open Data Portal, which went live on January 1, 2024.

Information governance helps to maintain privacy and confidentiality. Not all data can be displayed. When the number of an equity group is less than 10, the data are not displayed. This number is set at 15 for persons with disabilities.

ARAO are fundamental actions to the goal of becoming a Human Rights City. Focused ARAO work at the City began in 2021. Work in 2024 included learning events, outreach by Community Development and Talent Acquisition, partnership development and mass recruitments. The final installation of the human rights mural at City Hall, Gakina Gidinawemaaganidim (We Are All Related), was completed in 2024.

EDI training for recruitment and retention of equity candidates has been developed. It supports HR teams and leaders on EDI and ARAO. Focused training for recruiters shows how to fully consider equity candidates for opportunities, including designated and preference job postings.

The Journey of Inclusion mandatory training continues to be promoted City-wide. As of March 31, 2025, 6,774 employees (63 percent) completed the Journey of Inclusion training.

Professional Equity Networks (PEN), Women at Work and Pride City of Winnipeg, provided strategic insights to the Equity Office (EO) and strengthened the sense of belonging through events and outreach. The Indigenous Employees Group is in the process of becoming a PEN.

The EO also worked with Inclusion Winnipeg to explore the Routine Factory Remote Coach App (RF). This new technology was vetted and approved for use by the City in 2024. A successful pilot was conducted in Community Services where RF was tailored to the needs of an employee with excellent outcomes.

Community relations and outreach were a significant focus of the Talent Acquisition Services team. They attended 61 career fairs, delivered 40 presentations, led 23 mass recruitment-related sessions and helped departments hire 53 diverse candidates. They have strengthened partnerships with unions and community organizations.

RECOMMENDATIONS

That this report be received as information.

REASON FOR THE REPORT

On February 27, 2020, Council directed the Public Service to report back on workforce diversity each year to the Human Rights Committee of Council. On September 29, 2021, Council approved the creation of the Equity Office, the EDI Policy and Strategy and the Diversity Dashboard which have become part of the annual reporting. On December 15, 2022, Council directed the Public Service to report on Anti-Racism and Anti-Oppression Activities and on March 4, 2024, Council approved that these activities be included in the Annual Workforce Diversity Report, starting in 2025.

IMPLICATIONS OF THE RECOMMENDATIONS

There are no implications with receiving this report as information.

EO Structure and Governance:

In 2024, the EO had an annual non-salary budget of $75,000.00 and a staff complement of 3.1 FTEs. The Equity Programs Coordinator role is being defined, with recruitment planned for 2025. The 0.6 FTE for the EO Administrative Assistant has been difficult to fill, and this position was vacant for half a year in 2024.

EO established its Governance Model in 2023 and the EDI Leadership Committee in 2024, tasked with implementation of the EDI Strategy within City departments. In addition to internal stakeholder engagement, the EO Governance Model was designed for engagement and collaboration with external stakeholders and Indigenous rightsholders on EDI Strategy implementation.

Workforce Diversity Reporting Working Group:

The Diversity Reports Working Group (DRWG) created the Self-Declaration Questionnaire (Appendix A) and the Diversity Dashboard which provides workforce diversity data in real time to Departments. It provides equity group representation for each Department and shows how the City and each Department are progressing towards EDI representation goals. The DRWG also conducts the annual workforce diversity analyses.

A. 2024 Workforce Analyses

The City of Winnipeg also reports on the progress being made on promoting under-represented people within the organization. Equitable representation at all levels within the organization is the goal. The 2024 Equity Group Tables and Charts referenced throughout this section are available in Appendix B.

According to data as of December 31, 2024, 10,793 employees were employed by the City. As of April 3, 2025, the Self-Declaration Questionnaire (SDQ) response rate is 60.8 percent, which is enough data to study the diversity within each equity group. Of this response rate, 78 percent provided self-declaration and 22 percent said they did not want to take part. The goal is to increase full participation to better measure diversity. More work is needed to understand why some employees choose not to take part.

As demonstrated in Table 1 in Appendix B, data shows increased representation for Indigenous Peoples, Racialized Peoples, 2SLGBTQQIA+ Peoples, Persons with Disabilities, Newcomers and Intersectional employees, and a slight reduction for Women from 2023 levels. The EO goal is to first meet the available labour market targets to have a representative workforce and then aim for population targets after that.

- Indigenous Peoples represent 11.43 percent of the workforce, an increase of 0.37 percentage points (PP) from 2023. This level of representation exceeds the available labour market by 1.42 PP. The Public Service is working toward meeting the total population target of 12.45 percent.

- Racialized Peoples represent 18.15 percent of the workforce, an increase of 1.38 PP from 2023. The gap from the labour force population is 6.12 PP and the Public Service continues to strive to meet this target of 24.27 percent.

- Women represent 26.32 percent of the workforce, a decrease of 0.05 PP from 2023. The gap from labour force population is 21.45 PP. A focused effort is essential to make progress toward the target of 47.77 percent.

- 2SLGBTQQIA+ Peoples represent 4.33 percent of the workforce, an increase of 0.72 PP from 2023. There is currently no known target for the available labour market. The 2SLGBTQQIA+ Peoples total population for the Prairie Provinces in 2021 was 4.37 percent. Historically, the 2SLGBTQQIA+ population has been under reported due to several factors. Therefore, for the purpose of workforce representation targets, the percentage is rounded up to 5.00 percent, and the gap from total population is 0.67 PP.

- Persons with Disabilities represent 5.74 percent of the workforce, an increase of 0.35 PP from 2023. The gap from labour force population is 30.49 PP. A focused effort is essential to make progress toward the target of 36.23 percent.

- Newcomers represent 1.44 percent of the workforce, an increase of 0.35 PP from 2023. The gap from labour force population is 4.74 PP and the Public Service continues to strive to meet this target of 6.18 percent.

- Intersectional Group, i.e. person with two or more equity group identities, represents 14.56 percent of the workforce, an increase of 1.15 PP.

The total population of Indigenous Peoples, Racialized Peoples and Newcomers are expected to continue to increase. In April 2025, Economic Research updated the report titled "City of Winnipeg Indigenous Peoples Highlights: 2021 Canadian Census." This report continues to emphasize that the Indigenous population in Manitoba and the City of Winnipeg is one of the fastest growing demographics and that 45 percent of the Indigenous population is under the age of 25 (compared to 29 percent for the non-Indigenous population). Employers must be responsive to the needs and interests of the Indigenous youth population.

Economic Research also confirmed that Winnipeg's population growth is primarily driven by international immigration, which has steadily increased since the early 2000s. The Federal Government has set the 2025-2027 immigration levels plan which includes 395,000 new permanent residents in 2025 and 380,000 in 2026 and 365,000 in 2027. This creates an opportunity for employers to engage with this important labour market group.

2024 Workforce Report Structure:

For reporting purposes, the workforce report has been separated into three service categories:

1. Emergency Services
2. Transportation and Utilities, and
3. Other Services Areas

The nature of work is similar within each category and each service category experiences unique challenges in hiring and retaining diverse employees. As demonstrated in Table 2 in Appendix B, each service category has seen positive increases in representation amongst most of the equity groups from 2023 levels. Representation of Indigenous Peoples in Other Service Areas remains unchanged, and representation of Women in Other Service Areas is down slightly but is still the most representative of all service categories. Note: TF in tables means there were too few to report.

Further analysis by the Employment Equity Occupational Group (EEOG) shows labour force availability in Winnipeg and Manitoba relative to the City in Appendix C.

Table 3 in Appendix B demonstrates that most equity groups have greater representation as Part-time / Casual employees than as Permanent employees within the organization, the only exception being Indigenous Peoples. Indigenous Peoples are over-represented in the “Other” employment status category which encompasses seasonal, temporary and contract workers.

Table 4 in Appendix B demonstrates median salaries across the organization. Salaries for most employees are laid out in collective agreements and are therefore standard for all employees. Equity groups fall below the overall median salary levels in all cases with two exceptions of a match of the median salary for Racialized Peoples in Transportation and Utilities and for Persons with Disabilities in Other Service Areas. The Newcomers in Emergency Services are too few to report; however, Newcomers have the lowest median salary in Transportation and Utilities and Other Service Areas. A discussion with departments to review these gaps should be explored to understand this trend.

Table 5 in Appendix B highlights salary quintiles, which are five equally-distributed groupings of approximately 20 percent of employees per quintile. The quintiles show workforce diversity representation in various salary ranges. Indigenous Peoples are equitably represented across all quintiles. All remaining equity groups tend to be less represented in the upper salary ranges.

Table 6 in Appendix B demonstrates representation at the levels of senior and middle managers, according to Employment Equity Occupation Groups. While some small gains were made for Racialized Peoples and Women, all remaining equity groups are under-represented in managerial roles. Indigenous Peoples and Intersectional have decreased in representation from 2023. All remaining equity groups are too few to report. This continues to be an area of focus given the City’s goal to have diversity representation at all levels of the organization.

Table 7 in Appendix B shows the representation by age group. In general, the younger age groups are closer to being equitably representative than the older age groups, except for Persons with Disabilities which is increasing with age.

Chart 7a provides another interpretation of the data in Table 7 as a Population Pyramid based on counts. Population Pyramids are typically used to compare the age and sex of a population, but here it is demonstrating a simplified gender distribution by age. The data shows that the number of women remains relatively stable until the two oldest age ranges. Their representation decreases through increasing age ranges because the number of other employees increases. This analysis shows the value of exploring diversity measures in different ways. More efforts are needed for the recruitment and retention of women at the City.

Table 8 in Appendix B shows representation of hires. In 2024, there were increased hiring rates for all equity groups except Racialized Peoples and Intersectional, which decreased slightly. A review of flow data within the City's recruitment activities is underway to better understand the number of equity candidates who apply and how they progress through current processes.

Table 8a shows representation of hires by Service Category. Indigenous Peoples are hired at rates above Indigenous population level within Emergency Services. For all other equity groups, Other Service Areas show the highest hiring rates. Compared to 2023, Emergency Services saw increased hiring rates for Indigenous Peoples, Racialized Peoples, Women, 2SLGBTQQIA+ Peoples and Intersectional employees. Other Service Areas saw hiring rates increase for all equity groups except Indigenous Peoples and Intersectional employees.

Table 8b shows the representation of external hires by Service Category. Like the pattern for all hires, Indigenous Peoples are hired at rates above Indigenous population level within Emergency Services. For all other equity groups except Persons with Disabilities, Other Service Areas show the highest hiring rates. Other Service Areas hired Racialized Peoples, 2SLGBTQQIA+ Peoples and Newcomers at rates above labour force levels.

Based on current City workforce representation, Table 9 in Appendix B shows that the rates of voluntary departures are disproportionately high for all equity groups other than Indigenous Peoples and Newcomers, which are trending downward. Involuntary departure rates are trending upwards in all equity groups except for Newcomers. This table demonstrates a need to focus on the City's retention efforts and understand why people are departing.

As a bilingual municipality, the City of Winnipeg continues to prioritize French Language Services to meet the needs of the Francophone and Francophile communities. These communities include individuals whose mother tongue is French, as well as those who regularly use French in their daily lives. The current self-declared French language proficiency within the Public Service is 6.74 percent, reflecting a gap of 3.27 PP from the 10.01 percent population.

To address this, the City is currently undertaking a review of existing roles and is identifying new positions that should be designated as bilingual (French/English), ensuring services are accessible and inclusive for all residents. In addition, in 2024, the City has launched targeted training initiatives for community services staff to further strengthen their language skills and cultural awareness, ensuring that French-speaking residents feel supported in leisure activities.

Disaggregated Data Analyses:

Disaggregated data analyses, new this year, provide insights into the composition of diversity within each equity group as captured in the SDQ and are available in Appendix D. The percentages of representation are relative to the number of employees who self-declared within each equity group. It is not the population percentage. An employee may self-declare in more than one equity group; therefore, the percentages may not add up to 100 percent.

B. Anti-Racism and Anti-Oppression (ARAO)

ARAO are a significant and fundamental focus of Indigenous Relations Division (IRD), Community Development (both within the CAO's Office), and the EO. The strategies in each of these divisions underscore centering the voices of groups and individuals who have been and continue to be marginalized, excluded and harmed by racism and oppression.

In alignment with the Federal Anti-Racism Strategy, guiding principles include:

1. Nothing About Us Without Us – centering the voices of communities and persons with lived experience and expertise

2. Trauma and Violence-Informed – ensuring safety, care and compassion when working with communities and persons with lived experience and expertise

3. Intersectionality – fully considering how forms of racism and oppression have unique and exacerbated harmful impacts upon peoples with intersecting identities

4. Integrated Approach – understanding the systemic nature of barriers and how interlocking systems perpetuate harms

5. Evidence-Based – analyzing aggregate and disaggregated data to understand current gaps, and centering the voices of lived experience and expertise as well as academic research to inform improvements or system overhauls

Indigenous Relations Division:

ARAO work is integral to the IRD's entire portfolio. Comprehensive reporting on the Winnipeg Indigenous Accord and Journey of Reconciliation (Indigenous rights, culture, justice) is prepared and submitted annually to Council by the Indigenous Relations Division.

Community Development:

Community Development (CD) leads the Newcomer Welcome and Inclusion Policy and the Poverty Reduction Strategy. CD has been a significant driver of the ARAO movement at the City and 2024 collaborations are as follows:

Focused Mass Recruitment Initiative

- Assisted in planning, promoting, and hosting the City of Winnipeg's Recreation Recruitment Fair on February 23, 2024; March 9, 2024; and March 28, 2024.

Community Partnerships

- Participated in planning, promoting, and hosting the Newcomer Welcome Fair on June 15, 2024. Collaborated with Newcomer serving organizations to organize a successful event welcoming Newcomers to the City. These organizations include Immigration Partnership Winnipeg and the Manitoba Association of Newcomer Serving Organizations.

Equity Office:

The EO has focused on several ARAO actions.

Race Shifting, Identity Theft

Race shifting and identity theft are issues that are harming equity groups in accessing economic opportunities. The main violation is claiming Indigeneity to access benefits intended for Indigenous rightsholders in Treaty One Territory and the National Homeland of the Red River Métis. The EO and IRD met with the Executive Director of the Manitoba Human Rights Commission in 2024. The EO is working with IRD to plan a path forward in collaboration with Indigenous Governments.

Journey of Inclusion

The City of Winnipeg launched the Journey of Inclusion mandatory employee training on Anti-Racism, Anti-Oppression and Cultural Competency in 2023. It is a core component of the Equity, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI) Education and Training Program in support of the City's Journey of Reconciliation, Journey of Inclusion, and Journey to a Human Rights City. The Equity Office engaged Tasha Spillett-Sumner, Cree and Trinidadian author and educator, to develop the curriculum and host the series. EDI Champions (EO, IRD, and CD) at the City of Winnipeg participated in tailoring the curriculum to the City of Winnipeg's context, along with the production company TripWire's team.

Intentional ARAO and cultural competency work requires all Public Servants to reflect, learn and act to dismantle systemic injustices and promote equality for all. Several human rights efforts at the City underscore this important priority including Indigenous Relations, Winnipeg Indigenous Accord, MMIWG2S+, EDI Policy and Strategy, Newcomer Welcome and Inclusion Policy and Strategy, and Poverty Reduction Strategy. To make meaningful progress on these efforts, the City's workplace culture must continue to evolve to dismantle systemic barriers to foster greater inclusiveness and belonging.

Journey of Inclusion has three episodes:

1. The Impacts of Colonialism – Learn about the theory of colonialism, the action of colonization, and the far reaching inter-generational impacts on Indigenous Peoples in Canada. Learn how this form of oppression is rooted in racism and how racism, in all its forms, continues to marginalize Indigenous Peoples and Racialized Peoples.

2. Origins of Race and Racism – Learn about race as a social construct and gain a deeper understanding of individual and systemic racism. Learn about power and privilege, white supremacy and white privilege and how these contribute to ongoing racism in society.

3. Anti-Racism, Anti-Oppression and Introduction to Cultural Competency – Learn about important actions to promote anti-racism and anti-oppression. Learn how developing greater cultural competency will assist in the process of active anti-racism and anti-oppression work about cultural competency, cultural awareness, and cultural humility.

As of March 31, 2025, 6,774 employees (or 63 percent) completed the Journey of Inclusion mandatory training.

Human Rights Mural, Gakina Gidinawemaaganidim (We Are All Related)

The EO worked with artists Jeannie White Bird and Charlie Johnston to complete the final installation of the Human Rights Mural, Gakina Gidinawemaaganidim (We Are All Related) at City Hall. This included work on framing and permanent installations along with additional elements to the artwork. The mural is a visual reminder of the City’s commitment to human rights, accessibility, EDI and ARAO.

Human Rights Committee of Council and Equity Office Awareness and Action Speaker Series

The Human Rights Committee of Council and Equity Office Awareness and Action Speaker Series (Series) aims to provide accessible learning events for both residents and the Public Service. Local experts have engaged audiences with thought-provoking insights to promote human rights, reconciliation, anti-racism, anti-oppression, equity, diversity, inclusion, belonging and accessibility.

The EDI Inter-Governmental Working Group, with representation from municipal, provincial and federal governments, produces a formal event focused on the elimination of gender-based violence. An important focus on the MMIWG2S+ is integrated in these events. Since 2022, events have been held in December, commemorating the following significant dates:

- Transgender Day of Remembrance (November 20)
- International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women (November 25)
- National Day of Remembrance and Action on Violence Against Women (December 6)
- 16 Days of Activism Against Gender-Based Violence (November 25 - December 10
- Human Rights Day (December 10)

All recorded sessions are available on the City's website, within Learning Opportunities. These are also promoted within the Public Service's Employee Development CityNet site and the Equity Office EDI Calendar of Events. These events have also been added to the new Learning Management System for greater access for the Public Service, and a means to track learning. All learning events included American Sign Language interpretation. (See Appendix E)

The City of Winnipeg worked with World Education Services and Immigration Partnership Winnipeg as a foundational partner to the #ImmigrantsWork project to raise awareness and to provide the necessary tools for organizations to support and welcome Newcomers to their workplaces. The campaign launched videos in social media in 2024.

Accessibility and Universal Design

The City of Winnipeg releases an Accessibility Plan to the Government of Manitoba every two years, and the last report was submitted in May 2024. The Plan outlines its commitment to ensuring inclusive access and participation within City facilities, services, and programs. This is built on the City of Winnipeg Universal Design Policy and Accessibility Design Standards to guide the removal and avoidance of barriers. While this plan addresses a legislated requirement, it serves as a roadmap for addressing barriers and promoting universal design principles in policies, practices, and procedures.

The City's administrative standards regarding reasonable accommodation are guided by the Manitoba Human Rights Code and the Accessible Employment Standard Regulation, the second standard enacted under The Accessibility for Manitobans Act. These standards aim to create a diverse, inclusive, and barrier-free workplace. The City strives to provide reasonable accommodation for employees and applicants with disabilities, ensuring equal access to employment and benefits.

The City continues to use Employment Disability Awareness Month to educate and inform employees about where to find accessible employment information, relevant administrative standards and resources. The City also supports opportunities for continuous learning and development of employees through on-line training modules related to accessibility, mental health and wellness.

Some of the work undertaken in 2024 to create a more inclusive and welcoming environment include:

- A hearing loop pilot project that is currently being launched at reception and service counters in select City facilities. This accessible technology enhances communication for individuals with hearing loss.

- A new webpage to display information about accessibility disruptions in facilities, reflecting ongoing efforts to improve accessibility. This webpage includes details about the reason for the disruption, its expected duration, and alternative options if available.

- More gender-neutral washrooms, including within Parks and Open Space, North and Downtown, at the downtown yard.

Planning, Property and Development

The City is currently developing a Greenspace and Natural Corridor Plan Bylaw (Plan) and a Biodiversity Policy. The Plan will direct how Winnipeg will protect, preserve and enhance natural areas and corridors in Winnipeg as the city grows. The Biodiversity Policy will provide direction to ensure that biodiversity is considered in all aspects of local planning and land management.

A key principle of the project is to bring the strengths of both Indigenous and Western knowledges to all planning and implementation decisions and to be inclusive of different lived experiences and ways of knowing, for the benefit of all.

The City is collaborating with Indigenous governments and organizations to co-develop the Plan and Biodiversity Policy. A Co-Development Team has been established, which includes First Nations, Métis and Inuit governments and key organizations. The Team will provide direction and input throughout the planning process, resulting in a collaborative outcome that reflects both Indigenous and Western knowledge and science. The Centre for Indigenous Environmental Resources (CIER) is facilitating the co-development process. CIER has extensive experience facilitating co-development processes in Canada following a Collaborative Leadership Initiative model.

C. EDI Strategy Highlights

EDI Strategic Actions are implemented in concert with other efforts. Appendix F has the full strategy and associated progress updates. Below are some highlights of progress made in 2024.

ISO 30415: 2021 - EDI and HR Management

The EO has engaged a Certified Consultant to assess the City of Winnipeg's progress on EDI in relation to ISO 30415: 2021 – EDI and HR Management. Several strategic actions have driven the Equity Office to budget for and examine the ISO 30415: 2021 – EDI and HR Management:

- 1.1 Develop a strong rationale for the EDI vision, mission and strategy and align it to organizational strategy and goals.
    - 1.1.1 Embed EDI in the values, culture, systems and processes to ensure an integrated and concerted effort in achieving sustainable progress […].

- 3.4 Develop a change management strategy and align with sustainability efforts.
    - 3.4.3 Explore ISO 9001 to measure, monitor, and manage quality of operations, programs and progress, i.e. operational excellence.

Bloomberg Philanthropies' What Works Cities Certification

The Diversity Reports Working Group was proud to be a part of the Bloomberg Philanthropies' What Works Cities Certification process showcasing the Diversity Dashboard. The City received What Works Cities Silver Certification and is among the first Canadian cities to receive this notable certification for the exceptional use of data. The DRWG co-lead, Jennifer Bodnarchuk, Senior Data Scientist and Acting Coordinator of Data and Analytics coordinated the City's submission in collaboration with other Departments' data innovations.

Supported Employment

The EO focused on building the City's capacity to better support persons with disabilities. Learning events as part of the Series included a presentation by Oly Backstrom, President and CEO of SCE Lifeworks, Talent Beyond Labels: The "Why's" and "How's" of Hiring Employees with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities. This work supports the EDI Strategic Action 2.1.6 to create a Supported Employment Program at the City of Winnipeg.

The EO also worked with Inclusion Winnipeg to explore the Routine Factory Remote Coach App (RF) and to get this new technology vetted and approved at the City. RF is a tool that integrates all necessary supports for an employee, from easy access to leaders to step by step captures (flipbooks, checklists, videos, QR Codes) of work details. RF empowers an employee to work independently, with necessary tracking to ensure leaders are aware of the employee's wellbeing and progress throughout the day.

Community Services was the first to pilot RF. They worked with Inclusion Winnipeg to tailor RF to the needs of an employee. All reports indicate this pilot is very successful. The employee uses RF daily and appreciates how it helps them stay on task and organized throughout the workday.

EDI Education and Training

The EDI Education and Training Framework was approved by Council in 2020. EDI training for recruitment and retention of equity candidates continues to be developed. It supports HR teams and leaders on EDI and ARAO. Focused training for recruiters includes how to fully consider equity candidates for opportunities, including designated and preference job postings.

As noted above, the Journey of Inclusion mandatory training also continues to be promoted city-wide.

EDI Awareness Series

The EDI calendar highlights days of observation, community events and learning opportunities. Learning opportunities include Human Rights Committee of Council and Equity Office Awareness and Action Series (Series) offerings. Many items are also promoted in Three Things Today. The aim is to provide employees with timely access to continuous development.

Professional Equity Networks

Professional Equity Networks (PENs) are a core component of the Governance Model as they represent the needs and interests of equity group employees at the City of Winnipeg. The EO and IRD are working on shifting the existing Indigenous Employees Group within IRD to a PEN within the EO. Women at Work and Pride City of Winnipeg PENs provided strategic insights to the EO and strengthened the sense of belonging through events and outreach.

As part of the EDI Awareness Series, the Women at Work PEN hosted two learning events on perimenopause and menopause with renowned Dr. Black, Obstetrics and Gynecology. These offerings were well-attended and well-received. Many women attended these learning events, 91 and 70, respectively. These events have prompted further discussions at the Human Resources Leadership Group for more learning and supports in the workplace.

Sustainable and Social Procurement

Comprehensive reporting on the City's Sustainable Procurement Action Plan is prepared and submitted annually to Council by the Purchasing Division, Corporate Finance. This important work directly supports EDI Strategic Action 4.4 Practice sustainable procurement and develop supplier diversity.

Community Relations and Outreach by Talent Acquisition Services

Talent Acquisition Services has undertaken comprehensive outreach initiatives to represent the City of Winnipeg, share career information, promote employment opportunities, and advance EDI. These efforts focus on engaging all segments of the labour market and building a diverse workforce reflective of the community. Key highlights are in Appendix G.

Background:

The Human Rights Committee of Council and Equity Office Awareness & Action Speaker Series (Series) aims to provide accessible learning events for both Residents and the Public Service. Local experts have engaged audiences with thought-provoking insights to promote human rights, reconciliation, anti-racism, anti-oppression, equity, diversity, inclusion, belonging and accessibility.

The EDI Inter-Governmental Working Group, with representation from municipal, provincial and federal governments, produces a formal event focused on the elimination of gender-based violence. Since 2022, these events have been held in December, commemorating all days relating to the elimination of gender-based violence.

All recorded sessions are available on the City's website, within Learning Opportunities. These are also promoted within the Public Service's Employee Development CityNet site and the Equity Office EDI Calendar of Events. All learning events include American Sign Language interpretation. Recordings have been added to the City of Winnipeg's Learning Management System to make them readily available for employees to view, tracking this important learning city-wide.

2024 Learning Event Details:

1. January 17, 2024 – Navigating norms: supporting international students, newcomers, and culturally diverse candidates in recruitment, selection, onboarding, and adapting to employment expectations with Brian Rochat (he/him), Researcher, Work-Integrated Learning Professional, Consultant.

   Session Description:

   In what ways do cultural norms inform expectations and experiences within education, recruitment and selection processes, and experiential work-integrated learning? Approximately 900,000 international students attended Canadian post-secondary institutions in 2023 (Richardson & Hussein, 2022) and around 25% of the workforce is born outside of Canada (Statistics Canada, n.d.). However, many international students come from cultures and countries which emphasize different job-specific behaviours and soft skills, warrant different job search processes, documents (i.e. generalized CV vs. targeted résumé), and struggle with Canadian recruitment and selection processes which are rooted within cultural and colonial constructs.

   Applying Geert Hofstede's (1980, 1984, 2010) framework for cultural dimensions to a qualitative study, Brian Rochat's research explores staff and student perceptions of how culture affects learning and development within international education, workplace preparation, processes, and experiences. The project included international student participants, from 11 different countries and representing 11 programs, registered within a central Canadian Polytechnic, as well as 5 staff. This study was grounded in the epistemological perspective of social constructivism that presumes people are born into cultures that have already constructed meaning about their objects and symbols, and that an individual's understanding of meaning is shaped by sociocultural influences that manipulate their behaviour, experiences, and thinking (Licqurish and Seibold 2011, 12). This session will unpack findings relating to intercultural discovery and development within international education, including adjusting to Canadian cultural dimensions of reduced power distance, impacting relations with instructors and managers, increased individualism and reflections of individualistic value systems in recruitment, selection, and work-integrated learning, the importance of social supports, and self-efficacy in language learning. Attendees will discover and reflect upon ways in which cultural conditioning, norms, values and assumptions shape teaching, learning, and management styles, expectations around workplace behaviours, soft skills, barriers and blind spots.

Biography:

Brian Rochat is a work-integrated learning professional and researcher with a specialization in international education, intercultural skills, and workforce development. As a graduate student Brian focused his research on international education, employability, and intercultural skills, resulting in the establishment and publication of a new model, "Axis of Intercultural Discovery and Development in International Education' which demonstrates the correlation between cultural dimensions established learning, working styles, and cultural constructs, and be used to better understand and mitigate false-negatives in the recruitment, onboarding and talent development processes. He has a professional background in workforce development, training, facilitation, education, curriculum development, human resources management, diversity and inclusion, and teaching in post-secondary.

   Session Description:

   Multiculturalism, as both government policy and political philosophy, promises the possibility of widening the boundaries of Canadian national belonging. It his talk, Youcef Soufi presents the dominant theories and critiques of multiculturalism. Using the example of Muslims' political mobilization against post-9/11 Islamophobia, he shows that multiculturalism has created a sphere for minority groups to contest social and economic marginalization.
