Every level of government is recognizing that trees are valuable resources in the fight against climate change, but recognition isn't enough. We need bylaws that protect this valuable resource.

Two years ago the Standing Policy Committee on Community was supposed to report on a bylaw to protect trees on private property, but it was pushed forward again and again, and it seems no meaningful progress has been made.

Some people might argue that it is either much needed housing or trees. That is such narrow thinking. Winnipeg needs to catch up to other municipalities and have more progressive ideas when it comes to development.

Please stop avoiding the issue. How many more trees will be lost before the City acts?

Thank you
