I am a property owner in the nearby neighbourhood, and I am deeply disappointed by the recent amendments to scrap the pilot program. It is difficult to understand why the city would abandon such a necessary step toward improving safety in the area, especially when timely action is so obviously needed.

My partner is an all-season bike commuter and experiences firsthand the challenges created by our lack of safe, reliable cycling infrastructure. The city should be taking every opportunity to encourage safe bike travel, not only to protect cyclists, but to reduce traffic congestion and ease the commuting burden for everyone.
