Canada Public Transit Fund

On July 17, 2024, the Federal Government announced the Canada Public Transit Fund (CPTF), a new $30 billion investment over the first ten years to expand public transit and make it more accessible across the country. The funding is comprised of three streams, namely the Baseline Funding Stream, The Metro-Region Funding Stream, and the Targeting Funding Stream.

The Baseline Funding stream will deliver predictable funding to communities across the country with existing transit systems, based on population and ridership. This will help communities of all sizes upgrade, replace, or modernize their transit infrastructure, including system expansion, lifecycle extension, performance upgrades, and investments in the state of good repair of their fleets. Funding of $500 million per year is allocated for all Canadian municipalities.

On November 20,2024 the City of Winnipeg received confirmation of the City's annual allocation of the Baseline Funding is $11.568M. The funding is still contingent on the City submitting a capital application for specific projects and having those projects approved.

Transit presented a report at the October 30, 2025 Council meeting seeking approval to submit a Capital Plan Application for the Baseline Funding. Council approval is required to apply for funding under grants or contribution programs, and to enter into contribution agreements with other levels of government. There is no Provincial contribution associated with this request. Council approved the request.

The Metro-Region Funding stream will provide funding to support partnerships between provinces and large urban areas with the largest public transit systems, to build public transit networks. This could include regions such as the Greater Toronto Area and other metropolitan areas like Vancouver, Winnipeg, Calgary, Montréal, and Halifax, among others. As per the funding guide, funding amounts will be based on merit, with the highest amounts of funding going to the most ambitious partnerships, including those that can best demonstrate how investments in transit will help build more homes. Funding of $2 Billion per year is allocated for all Canadian municipalities and the City of Winnipeg's share of total funding is not yet known. Transit is currently evaluating the program to determine applicability and/or eligibility. Further discussions with the Province and Winnipeg Metro Region as well as direction from Council may be required.

The Targeted Funding stream will be available to support key priorities like active transportation, rural and remote transit, transit investments in Indigenous communities, and the electrification of public transit and school transportation. As per the funding guide this funding will be delivered on a project-by-project basis through periodic calls for applications, facilitating the federal government to be able to respond to the evolving transit needs of communities in the future. Funding of $500 million per year for all Canadian municipalities is available. The details of the application process have not yet been announced. Transit will continue to monitor to determine the opportunities available to access this funding.

With the recent Federal Budget announcement of the "Build Canada Strong" fund, the CPTF and other infrastructure programs may be consolidated under the BCS program. Stay tuned!

Canadian Housing Infrastructure Fund (CHIF):

On March 3, 2025, the governments of Canada and Manitoba have finalized a 10-year agreement under the Canada Housing Infrastructure Fund (CHIF).

Through this agreement, communities across Manitoba will be able to build or improve the critical infrastructure related to drinking water, wastewater, stormwater, and solid waste – that will in turn help them build more homes and meet the growing demand for affordable housing. The province of Manitoba will receive $209.8 million to address their housing-enabling infrastructure priorities.

Under CHIF, funding is available over ten years to support long-term provincial and territorial infrastructure priorities that will directly enable increased housing supply. Such initiatives could include projects that provide the critical infrastructure necessary to enable more homes or increase densification, provide the drinking water, wastewater, and stormwater systems required to support community growth, preserve existing capacity or increase reliability and access to drinking water, or implement waste diversion initiatives to reduce landfill use.

Under the Provincial and territorial agreement stream of the Canada Housing Infrastructure Fund the total anticipated funding for the NEWPCC Biosolids project will be $304M which is comprised of a $166M Federal contribution and a $138M Provincial contribution. In addition, as part of the Direct Delivery stream of the Canada Housing Infrastructure Fund an application is being prepared to request $31.3M of Federal funding for the Southwest Interceptor project. We have been updated that this funding will be rolled into the Build Canada Strong funding. The City now has draft agreement with the Province which is currently being reviewed. The ICIP Funding and CHIF funding will be amalgamated under one “new” CHIF agreement.
