EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

On September 27, 2012, Council supported the concept of an age-friendly Winnipeg. Council directed the Public Service to create a working group to make City programs and services more age-friendly. The age-friendly working group created an action plan that was completed in 2014. It was not formally supported by Council.

On May 22, 2025, Council directed the Public Service to report back in 180 days on:

- an updated Age-Friendly Winnipeg Action Plan that builds on the 2014 plan; and
- an Older Persons Strategic Framework, that:
 - identifies each City department's responsibilities, and
 - establishes a comprehensive and cohesive approach to support Winnipeg's aging population.

More time was later provided by Council to report back. This report provides:

- a status update of the 2014 Age-Friendly Winnipeg Action Plan;
- a high-level Older Persons Strategic Framework;
- a way to develop an updated Age-Friendly Action Plan; and
- how these two documents will work together.

RECOMMENDATIONS

That this report be received as information.

REASON FOR THE REPORT

On May 22, 2025, Council concurred in the recommendation of the Executive Policy Committee and adopted the following:

1. That the Public Service be directed to report back within 180 days with the following:

HISTORY / DISCUSSION

In 2012, the City of Winnipeg participated in the World Health Organization's (WHO) Age-Friendly Cities initiative, which is a global movement connecting municipalities committed to fostering communities where people can age safely, actively, and with dignity. The WHO framework provides guidance across eight domains of community life: community and health care; transportation; housing; social participation; outdoor spaces and buildings; respect and inclusion; civic participation and employment; and communication and information.

Participation in this initiative led to the development of the 2014 Age-Friendly Winnipeg Action Plan. Organized around the WHO domains, the plan established priorities to improve accessibility, inclusion, and quality of life for older adults across City programs and services. While not formally endorsed by Council, age-friendly considerations are integrated across major areas of City work, including public works and transportation, City planning and housing, community services, and transit.

This means that improvements, whether in sidewalk design, snow clearing policies, accessible transit, or recreation programming, are being considered from the outset to support residents of all ages and abilities. This approach reflects a broader shift where Winnipeg is becoming an age-friendly city not only through individual initiatives, but through long-term, system-wide change grounded in universal design and inclusive service delivery.

This work remains timely. While Winnipeg's median age remained relatively stable at 39 years between 2008 and 2024, the proportion of residents aged 65 and older increased from 13.8 percent to 16.4 percent, an increase from approximately 90,500 to an estimated 138,700 residents. This demographic shift underscores the importance of ensuring that City policies, programs, services, and infrastructure continue to respond effectively to the needs of older adults.

Council has directed the Public Service to develop an updated Age-Friendly Winnipeg Action Plan building on the 2014 plan, and to establish an Older Persons Strategic Framework based on the United Nations Principles for Older Persons and the World Health Organization's Age-Friendly Cities framework.

Review and Status Update of 2014 Age-Friendly Winnipeg Action Plan

A review of the 2014 Age-Friendly Winnipeg Action Plan was undertaken in the preparation of this report. Since 2014, the City of Winnipeg has shifted from standalone initiatives to a more integrated, cross-departmental approach to age-friendly planning, aligning efforts across public works, transit, community services, and health partnerships. This evolution has supported the integration of accessibility into infrastructure and transit, strengthened partnerships with the Winnipeg Regional Health Authority and community organizations, and advanced approaches to housing, social inclusion, and engagement. City departments were asked to report on actions for which they were responsible and to identify progress using standardized status categories. A detailed status update is provided in Appendix A.

The status update identifies 49 unique actions that have been advanced across City departments. Of these, 15 have been completed, and 23 are ongoing or have become embedded into regular operations. Six actions were initiated but later discontinued. Several actions were duplicated across departments, reflecting the cross-cutting nature of age-friendly work but also highlighting the need for stronger coordination and accountability. Overall, the review demonstrates that, while the 2014 plan established an important vision and generated meaningful activity, enhanced implementation and governance structure is required.

Development of a Strategic Framework

An updated Age-Friendly Winnipeg Action Plan will refresh and build on the 2014 plan by incorporating lessons learned, current demographic trends, and emerging priorities. An Older Persons Strategic Framework will guide this work by defining the City's long-term goals and commitments. Grounded in the United Nations Principles for Older Persons: independence, participation, care, self-fulfillment, and dignity; and the World Health Organization's Age-Friendly Cities approach; the strategic framework will establish shared values, clarify departmental responsibilities, and strengthen overall coordination.

Together, these two documents serve distinct but complementary roles. The strategic framework will set the overall direction, while the updated action plan will define how that direction will be implemented through specific actions and initiatives. This work will require strong collaboration across City departments.

Appendix B presents a high-level Older Persons Strategic Framework and summarizes the process through which this framework may be expanded. To develop this framework further, City departments that participated in the status update of the 2014 Age-Friendly Winnipeg Action Plan would form a cross-departmental Age-Friendly Working Group to support alignment, establish clear and achievable objectives, and identify associated actions within each department's scope of work.

The City remains committed to ensuring Winnipeg continues to be a city where older adults can live safely, stay connected, and thrive in their communities. The City is anticipating reviewing the engagement of the Human Rights Committee of Council engagement sessions set to conclude in 2026.
