6. Public safety: There is a lot wrong here. The money has been spent, then months later, EPC is asked for permission to spend it. Since this is a 2025 matter, why was EPC not asked to authorize it then? The TV and the city tell us that crime is down, even though it is still a major problem for residents. If crime is being reduced, why must the city experiment in fighting it? Do we not already know how to enforce the law? Has no one here ever asked themselves why we are spending on elaborate "responses" instead of simply enforcing the law?
